W. F. THOMAS and CO.'S PATENT SEWING MACHINES Paris, 1855, Prize Medal; London, 1862.—These machines so long and extensively used in all departments of trade, at the Royal Army Clothing Depot, Pimlico, in many regiments, and for family purposes, are now employed largely in India and the colonies. They give perfect satisfaction, and may be relied on as efficient, useful, and practical machines, saving time, and of great utility where skilled labour is scarce. They are extremely simple, easily learnt, and not liable to derangement. The stitching is alike on both sides of the material, and the thread cannot be pulled out. The prices vary from £10 to £30.

66, Newgate-st., and Regent Circus, Oxford-st., London.

GROVER and BAKER SEWING-MACHINE COMPANY'S FIRST PREMIUM FAMILY SEWING-MACHINES.

These celebrated sewing-machines comprise all the latest improvements in sewing machinery, and for simplicity of construction, noiselessness, rapidity, ease of management, capacity for all kinds of work, beauty and regularity of stitch, they are not equalled by any other machines.

They hem, stitch, fell, gather, cord, bind, braid, quilt, and embroider most effectually.

The Grover and Baker S. M. Co. are the only parties who manufacture machines which both sew perfectly and embroider perfectly.

The public are invited to witness the machines in operation.

R. H. GORDON, Agent, 219 Pitt-street (late Foss's).

WILLCOX AND GIBBS' FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.—In 1864 it competed and received nine out of ten prizes given for the best Sewing Machine in the United States. It forms a flat, even, and elastic seam, which is warranted not to rip in wear if properly sewed, when every third stitch is cut. This machine can be run but one way; two thousand stitches, or two yards of work, can be done in one minute without dropping a stitch. The machine is so simple and accurate in its construction that it supersedes the use of the noisy shuttle, and with one thread produces all the practical results of the two-thread machines, and more, for it fells without basting, and hems the finest muslin without puckering. It will sew perfectly from one to thirty-two thicknesses of calico without alteration of tension. The highest colonial testimonials can be given of their practical working. S. HEBBLEWHITE, 432, George-street, and 292, Pitt-street.

TAKE NOTICE OF THE LIST OF PRICES, as the Beef and Mutton is reduced in price.

It's always allowed in all quarters, it's said,
M'Carroll's the man who can lead all the trade;
If before he surpassed with the primest of beef,
This week he'll come out as commander-in-chief.
He has such supplies of the finest of meat
That cannot be equalled, we'll not say be beat,
And at such low prices the people all own
There's none can sell like him, which weekly is shown.
To-day, no mistake, he'll astonish the crowd,
With shops so supplied he may justly feel proud.
The great Redfern Depot, with shambles borne down,
Will display quite enough to supply a whole town;
At Cumberland-street, and at Woolloomooloo,
With Botany shop, will share in it too.
Each and all prove this week what cannot be denied,
There's no other shop like those are supplied;
And all ranks of people now boldly declare
To one or the other they find their way there;
And those who live distant much more than a mile
To travel that distance they find worth their while;
The saving they make in the price is so great,
They go to M'Carroll's both early and late,
And say, when at home with their baskets returned,
A shilling well saved is a shilling well earned;
It adds to the poor man's hard-earned weekly wage;
To save is to make, are the words of the sage.
With six shops full of meat, and the prices all down,
M'Carroll can serve all the wants of the town.

The Cheetah, from Taranaki the 7th instant, has experienced very heavy gales all the passage, and has lost a portion of her bulwarks and sails. Captain Fifeson does not report any colonial vessels.

The Governor has made a most successful cruise, having returned after an absence of five months with a full cargo of oil. She has had very heavy S. E. gales, and has lost a boat and a portion of her bulwarks, to the eastward of Cato's Bank. The whaler Robert Edwards had called off Brampton Shoal. Captain Martin reports an immense number of humpback whales south of the Fijis 70 miles.

The brigs Ziska, Lalla Rookh, and Notion will be sold by auction, on Monday next, by Messrs. L. E. Threlkeld and Co.

The Boomerang (s.) left the Wharf, Rockhampton, on the 21st, at 10 a.m.; passed Cape Capricorn at 8.30 p.m., put into Gladstone on the 22nd, and came to an anchor at 8.30 a.m.; weighed again on the 23rd at 7 a.m., passed Lady Elliott's Island on the 24th at 2 a.m., Cape Morton on the 25th at 4.30 a.m., Cape Byron at 2 p.m., Smoky Cape on the 26th at 5.30 a.m., entered Sydney Heads on the 27th at 3.30 a.m., and made fast to the wharf at 4.30 a.m. Experienced a strong S.E. gale with a heavy sea to Sandy Cape, variable light winds to Smoky Cape, remainder fresh N.E. breeze.

The A. S. N. Co.'s steamship Yarra Yarra, which was chartered a short time since, for the conveyance of cattle from Wide Bay to Melbourne, called at Sydney, on the 26th instant, for a supply of coals. She is en route for Melbourne, and has on board 180 head of bullocks. She crossed Wide Bay bar, at 10 a.m., on the 24th instant, having been detained behind the bar for three days, in consequence of the heavy sea which was on.

The Grey is likely soon to bear as unenviable a reputation as Hokitika, two wrecks having occurred there on Monday. From the statement of the late master of the steamer Nelson, it appears that about 2 o'clock on Monday, the schooner Jessie, from Melbourne, in endeavouring to effect an entrance ran on the south spit; and the schooner Murray, from Sydney, having lost her rudder in the break, was thrown ashore on the north spit at about the same time. This latter craft belonged, as also her cargo, to Paul, Brothers, of Nelson, and had enjoyed a remarkably good run, having left Sydney on Saturday week last. The captain of the Murray states that the steamer Kennedy was to leave the same day for Nelson; and the Star of the Evening on the following Wednesday (the 4th) for Dunedin and Hokitika.—Hokitika Leader, October 13.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1865.

In the Legislative Assembly, yesterday,

In reply to questions put to the Ministers, the following replies were elicited by the hon. members putting them,—That the amended return to an order made by the Assembly on the 28th April last, on the motion of Mr. Donnelly, for statistics respecting the gold-fields (the return originally rendered, as moved for by that hon. member, being inaccurate in certain particulars), would be laid on the table forthwith;—that the Rocky River Gold-field had not been thrown into the Saumarez Run (in the occupation of Mr. Thomas) by the appraisers;—lands or gold-fields were not withdrawn from lease unless specially reserved, and the appraisement in this case had been made as recently defined by proclamation; the Saumarez Run had an area of 200,000 acres, and it embraced the area of country known as the Rocky River Gold-field at the time at which that gold-field was proclaimed;—that Mr. L. V. Dulhunty was not to be removed to Wellington as police magistrate;—that the Chief Gold Commissioner for the Western districts reported that some gold diggers had sunk holes on the old line of road between Bathurst and Carcoar, which road had, by reason of its passing over an impracticable gully, been long disused, and that there were no such holes or sinkings on the new line of road now in use;—that legacy and succession duties were, by reason of a defect in the Stamp Duties Act, chargeable upon the property of a deceased husband passing to his widow, but that the collection of such duties remained in abeyance pending an application to Parliament for an amendment of the Stamp Duties Act in this particular;—that the border Customs duties were now in course of collection according to the existing tariff; that, by the last mail, debentures had been forwarded to the Oriental Bank in London for sale, with authority to pay out of the proceeds of sale the debentures falling due in January next;—that no arrangement existed with the Bank of New South Wales for the conduct of the Government banking business, or any portion thereof, in London, and that no such arrangement existed with the Oriental Bank;—that it was not the intention to carry out the sentence upon Gannon, found guilty of personation at an election, the Governor having already granted him a pardon;—that Mr. Commissioner Griffin had been suspended from his office for failing to adjust accounts, and for general disregard of letters addressed to him upon matters of account; that the amount of salary last paid to him was £318 6s. 8d., and that such payment was made on the 6th September last.

Petitions were presented by Mr. Cunneen, from settlers of the Macdonald River, in the Hawkesbury district, in favour of a uniform scale of weight for maize, and by Mr. Farnell, from George May, praying for relief in respect of an alleged improper dismissal from the public service.

Upon the motions respectively of Mr. Forlonge and Mr. Buchanan, the petition of Hyam Phillips and Nathaniel Lipscombe Kentish were ordered to be printed.

The House adjourned at a quarter to four.

The report of the Registrar-General contains some references to the operation of the Marriage Laws in confirmation of demands for amendment made in several quarters. The chief with which the public has any concern relates to clandestine marriages and to the facilities offered in the practice of certain Churches or clergymen. The most remarkable of the protests against the law comes from the Rev. Mr. Reid, who well illustrates in his own experience the abuses possible, and who proposes a series of checks, which will be felt as a yoke to those who have made no profit and incurred no odium by a match-making reputation. When a minister of religion, by elaborate advertising, by a variety of prices, by having standing witnesses, by opening his parlour at any time of night, acquires an income for this kind of service out of all proportion with his general clerical work, it certainly is not so much to his credit as when he is visiting the hospital. There is, indeed, a large proportion of the people who, for any devotional purpose, belong to no Church.

When, therefore, they enter into the holy estate of matrimony, any Oliver Mar-Text can "dispatch" them; and, if reproached, he may answer, as in the comedy of Shakespeare,

> "'Tis no matter; ne'er a fantastical knave > Shall flout me out of my calling."

It is proposed, however, by some to make changes equivalent to a repeal of the present marriage law; to do by coercion what cannot be effected by legitimate influence. We believe that, except in the Presbyterian, there is no denomination which has provoked this restriction. The other clergymen do little more than marry their own people, and if they pass this law, they only gain one day what they lose another. The preference for certain of the Presbyterian clergy arises from several causes. They marry at any time, in any place, and at fees to meet circumstances. We have no doubt that, now a General Assembly embraces nearly the whole, certain clergymen will be subject to more stringent rules as well as a more exigent and effective opinion. Even as it is, the chief offenders are a small section of these ministers, who have had but little surveillance and restraint.

In the other and smaller sects, so far as we have heard, no complaints worth notice have ever been made. A minister dependent on the suffrage of a fixed congregation would soon find reprovers if he perverted his functions by making marriage a matter of speculation and touting. The statistics, however, require to be considered in detail to understand their value. If a sect which had two marriages one year show six the next they seem to have made a tremendous progress, and yet the difference may express nothing but a chance excess.

The question of cost is with some classes of the people a decisive one. The preference for any legal form of marriage would be nothing compared with the scale of fees. If a poor couple in a fit of desperation get married, they probably find it very hard to raise the funds for ribbons and rings, for cakes and ale. When, therefore, a license called special can be got for a few shillings, can it be expected that people who work for wages will give a large sum for a mere ecclesiastical name. If those who complain would meet the market and compete with Cheap John, they would probably turn the current of love into orthodox channels.

The law as it stands at present requires that all who are not of age should obtain the consent of guardians, and being of age, declare that they are so in writing. It makes falsehood penal, and releases the clergyman from responsibility, if he performs his part honestly. Now, what more can be done? Minors make false declarations, and their parents do not prosecute them;—can anybody wish they should do so? But it is said much sorrow and immorality result from clandestine marriages. No one can doubt it. We never knew a time when these marriages did not take place. We never heard of a scheme by which they could be prevented without such restrictions as English people never will suffer. Everybody, as a rule, likes a little mystery if the marriage be not something to startle the "groundlings." If the pair do not show by their appearance that they are under age how is a clergyman to know they are minors? If parents are so unfortunate as to have failed in securing the confidence of their children, or to have impressed them with the sacredness of a declaration solemnly given, nothing the law can do will effectually help them. It must be recollected, too, that youthful marriages rarely receive the cordial sanction of families, and that prudent maxims have a very hard battle with a more ancient law. In this, as in other cases, the evil of clandestine marriages is to be treated by general remedies, and not the quackery of a specific.

It may be doubted if some restrictions should not be imposed on the registration of clergymen. It is horrible to think that any person fresh from the hulks and guilty of infamous crimes can set himself up "in the marriage line," and be the sole agent between the parties and the Government in registration. There ought to be some qualification, as being the minister of a known place of worship, and exercising exclusively a clerical calling or standing with an organised community, or at least a well certified character. No doubt, that laws made for extreme cases are commonly bad laws, but there are some things so dangerous, so indecent, so infamous, that we all feel it is impossible that they have any abstract title to toleration.

In every change of the Marriage Law it is necessary to look well to all its consequences. There are other evils not foreseen. For example, people of low morals do not marry at all if there is much publicity or trouble, or expense—particularly in the bush, where there is little force in opinion. If restrictions be put on the choice of denominational forms, they will be evaded by pretended Church membership. If any irregularity is permitted to disturb the validity of a marriage, the whole fabric of social life will be undeniably shaken. If conditions are multiplied, but which do not affect validity, the parties who most require will disregard them. If special obstructions are set up and enforced by one Church, the only persons they are intended to hold in check will accept the greater freedom and licence offered by another. On the whole, we believe that clergymen are less likely to do wilful wrong than any other official men in the matter of marriages. The public opinion of the smaller bodies, and the organised government of the larger, will do all that can be done to prevent flagrant and often-occurring abuses, and that nothing will prevent those which exist but the general education and moral improvement of the people. It may, however, be possible to check hasty marriages by requiring a larger number of witnesses when they are celebrated at night, and by interposing a longer delay between the issue of a licence and the celebration. Our readers will remember the anxious and prolonged discussion of the Marriage Law ten years ago. At that time there were hundreds of colonial families in doubt by the uncertainty of the law as it then stood, and the labour and care bestowed by our first lawyers and politicians to pass a measure to remove the evils and dangers which existed. We have seen and heard of nothing which leads us to infer that the law is terribly defective, but much to justify the belief that we have among us clergymen a great deal too fond of fees, and many rash, foolish, and immoral young people. It is useless to be always filtering puddles; the salt must be thrown into the fountain.

Till we get some knowledge of what the new Ministerial Land Scheme is like, we cannot pretend to criticise it. The form in which alone it has hitherto been shadowed forth is almost vague enough to admit of any interpretation, the only definite idea being that some reduction in the price of some land is a part of the scheme.

When free selection with deferred payments was introduced, it was pointed out often enough that while the price of land was nominally preserved, it was practically reduced, and that it was the first step towards a general and permanent reduction of price. On this point there was the usual contrariety of opinion that always seems to exists on every part of the land question.

Some denied the alleged fact, some deprecated it, some rejoiced over it. The last seem likely to be the winners, for events look as if they were tending towards the realisation of their wishes. Those who deprecated the cheapening of land may witness it in spite of their forebodings and evil predictions, while those who denied the tendency that was set afoot may at leisure reconsider their ignorance.

The change may certainly be defended on the ground of consistency. It is but carrying forward one step more a principle already adopted. Admit that land is worth nothing till it is purchased, and that it is better to part with it for the cost of survey than to lease it and part with it gradually, as population increases, and the propriety of wholesale alienation is established. But mere consistency is not an adequate justification; and if a false doctrine has been enunciated, it is better to retract it than to repeat it. The experience of the last few years has rather been to restore the idea that the national estate is a valuable property, and that the country does not get richer by giving away for nothing what would fetch a good price.

The high price of land was unquestionably established by the Imperial Government to give a fair start to the Wakefield theory in South Australia. That theory was never very popular in this colony, and our present Land Acts were a definite repudiation of it. The object of the high price was to make the land pay for labour and improvements. How far it did so—how far the land-fund sustained immigration, and left a surplus for roads, can be seen by a reference to the statistical registers of the various colonies. The theory of our present land system is, that if the best land is made cheap and attractive, it will act as a magnet, and people will come without being fetched. How far this expectation has been realised is patent to all observers. Any one who has ten fingers can count on them the number of immigrants who have come out from the old country to become free-selectors here. As to the fund for roads, those who want to get their produce to market can apply to Mr. Smart to hand over the proceeds of the rural land sales to the trustees for minor roads, and find what his answer would be.

As an agency for attracting immigrants, selling the best land cheap has proved to be a failure. It would seem that we are to be now invited to try the plan of selling the worst land cheap. Will this answer any better? We shall see.

It is hinted that the proposed plan will not only attract immigrants, but immigrants of a superior quality—that is, we presume, educated capitalists. What the magic charm is to consist in we must wait to discover. If the land is only worth what is to be given for it, what is the special inducement to come sixteen thousand miles simply to give money for money's worth? If the land is to be parted with for less than its value, may not all the best of the bargains be taken up on the spot?

The land order system of Queensland is said to introduce a superior class of immigrants, men with money in their pockets; and indeed the capital they bring out and spend, helps largely to keep the colony going. But their passage is paid, or rather repaid, out of the land fund, and the system adopted is only the Wakefield system inverted. Instead of the land sale preceding the immigration, the immigration precedes the land sale. But in either case the fund would be destroyed by alienating the land at the cost of survey.

The cheap land system had a pretty extensive trial in this colony many years ago. Land was sold in large tracts at a low price. Prior to that it was given away to those who had capital, or who could borrow a bank balance so as to pretend to the possession of capital. Can we say that the system answered well? Was the capital of the capitalists as a rule invested in the improvement of these properties?

A fair trial was also given many years ago to the plan of giving away land to small holders on conditions of cultivation. But it was not a success. The conditions were not fulfilled, and most of the grants changed hands. Much of the same land is now again in small holdings, having been repurchased at a high price.

In the province of Canterbury, in New Zealand, the doctrine of a high price maintains its ground in spite of competition close by, and agriculture flourishes there side by side with pastoral occupation. In South Australia, where there have been neither large grants nor low prices for land, agriculture has taken a firm hold, and the pastoral rental of unsold land is higher in proportion than elsewhere.

There is plenty of past experience to guide the Government in framing a new scheme. How far the projected plan has been drawn with an eye to this experience we cannot say, but there is certainly no need any more to take "a leap in the dark."

That some alteration in our present Land laws would be for the interests of the colony has long been seen by all intelligent and impartial persons, and it is more widely seen now than ever. The difficulty lies in retracing false steps. There are indications that this difficulty has been felt, and that having given away with one hand it is necessary to establish an equilibrium, by giving away with the other. Having petted one class of the community at the expense of another, we are now to restore the balance by a corresponding douceur. Having parted with the best front lands to one class for five shillings an acre, and promissory notes for the balance due on the Greek Kalends, we are now to part with the "back and inferior lands" to another class for a small cash price without any promissory note. In this way, one false step leads on to another.

That the present pastoral tenure is bad must be admitted, but is there no better way out of the difficulty than by precipitately alienating the public domain? However, Parliament will be well occupied in giving the whole subject a careful consideration during the session, and it is not improbable that it may be subjected to the inquiry of a select committee. If the Government has matured any scheme it should be unfolded as soon as possible. For, as it is closely related to the financial administration, the Estimate of Ways and Means must necessarily be affected by it.

Fire at Redfern.—At 9 p.m. a fire broke out at the residence and property of John Thornton, Moon-street, Rose Hill, Redfern. The building, a four-roomed cottage, built of wood, was totally destroyed and uninsured, leaving the proprietor a severe loser. Unfortunately a sum of £40 or £50 in notes was also destroyed. The supposed origin of fire is through the candle setting fire to the bed curtains. Several fire-engines were soon on the spot, but unfortunately from the combustible nature of the building and the absence of a supply of water their services were not called into requisition.

Gas Works for the City Corporation.—A short time since application was made to the late Secretary for Lands, on behalf of the City Corporation, for a grant of land, at the head of Darling Harbour, for the erection of gas-works. The following reply to the application has been received:—"Department of Lands, Sydney, October 20th, 1865. Sir,—Referring to your letter of the 12th instant, forwarding a tracing of certain land at the head of Darling Harbour, which has been applied for by the City Corporation, as a site for the erection of City Gas-works, I am directed to inform you that Mr. Secretary Robertson has approved of the land applied for being appropriated to the purpose in question. I have the honour to be, Sir, your most obedient servant, M. Fitzpatrick." The land in question consists of about three and a half acres, being a portion of the south water frontage. The plans for the proposed gas-works are being prepared by the City Engineer; when these are finished, the pipes and other apparatus will be ordered.

Prison-breaking at Port Macquarie.—We learn from Captain Chatfield, of the Boomerang, that on passing Port Macquarie, on Thursday, he was boarded by the pilot stationed there, who stated that seven long-sentenced prisoners had that morning escaped from the gaol, two of whom were in irons. It was rumoured that one of them had been shot, but this statement has not been authenticated. The breach made in the gaol wall, and through which they had made their exit, could be plainly seen from the steamer, which was a mile and a half from the shore; at that distance it appeared to be about three feet wide. One of the prisoners is named Kean or King. A correspondent informs us that the runaways were seen about 5 o'clock by Mr. Butler passing his residence and making for the bush. Every effort is being made to recapture them. Two of the wardens are meanwhile suspended. An inquiry is to be held this afternoon by the police magistrate.

The Water Supply.—We understand that the Mayor of Sydney has given directions that for the present water is only to be supplied to the Botanic Gardens one hour in the day—from 11 o'clock till 12—and that he has written to request Mr. Moore to stop the playing of the fountains. Orders have also been given that only one-half of the street hydrants are to be used. These steps have been taken because the water has for some time past been taken out of the reservoir at Botany faster than it has been flowing in, and fears have been entertained of a deficiency in the supply if the drought should continue. Under these circumstances, it is to be hoped that the citizens will be careful not to allow any water to be wasted. It is still matter of complaint on the part of the Corporation, that they have to supply the various Government establishments with water, to the extent of nearly 14,000,000 gallons a year, for which no payment whatever is made. The consumption of water by the Mint was 3,177,200 gallons a year, but since a four-inch pipe has been substituted for a three-inch, the quantity must have considerably increased. At Government House the two mains take 6,870,000 gallons, and the Botanic Gardens 3,672,000 gallons a year. It is estimated that if the Government had to pay for the water they use, instead of as at present the Corporation charging the citizens 7d. per tun, the rate might be reduced to something like 5d. per tun.

Government Appointments.—Mr. George Waring has been appointed Visiting Justice of the gaol at Wollongong; and Mr. William Leonard Edwards to be acting Clerk of Petty Sessions at Gunning.

Sudden Death.—A child of a Mr. Doherty, living in Broughton-street, Glebe, died rather suddenly yesterday. An inquiry is to be held before the City Coroner, at his office, to-day.

Street Accident.—An accident happened to a boy named Henry Kirby, yesterday, in George-street. At about midday, he was carrying a number of band boxes on his head, and one of them was blown towards the feet of a horse that was going along the street at the time. In trying to recover the box, the boy was struck on the ancle by one of the horse's hoofs, and he was so much hurt that he had to be taken to his home, at the Glebe, by a constable.

The Lancashire Bellringers at the School of Arts.—The Lancashire Bellringers gave another of their delightful entertainments at the School of Arts, in Pitt-street, last night. These talented artistes seem to have lost none of their popularity, for there was a very numerous audience, and all present appeared to be intensely gratified with their refined and brilliant performances; indeed, so enchanting are their melodies that it rarely happens that they escape an encore. The Bellringers are assisted by Mrs. W. J. Cordner and Madame Flora Harris, who sing several choice songs and duets with such sweetness and ability. Mr. J. J. Ryall is the accompanyist. It will be observed that the Bellringers announce their intention of closing their performances to-day; and there is, therefore, but one more opportunity afforded the Sydney public of again listening to their exquisite strains. In addition, however, to the entertainment at night, an afternoon performance, commencing at 3 o'clock, has been arranged to take place for the convenience of children and persons residing in the country.

More Spurious Gold.—On Saturday morning last we were shown by Mr. A. Watson two ounces of what in every respect resembled pure Adelong gold. A few days before, that gentleman purchased it from a Chinaman named Ah Quong, who had been resident on the Upper Adelong for about four years. Having a suspicion that the metal was not genuine, Mr. Watson hesitated to purchase, but knowing the Chinaman well, and with a view of arresting him, and thus putting a stop to these fraudulent practices, should it prove spurious, Mr. Watson bought it at the usual price, taking the precaution to ask in the presence of witnesses if it was all good gold, lest hereafter a legal point might be raised that Ah Quong did not sell the metal as gold. On the following morning the gold was taken to the bank and tested, when it was found that the finer portion, although cleverly coated, and with good judgment as to weight, was spurious. Mr. Watson at once resolved to proceed to Ah Quong's claim, and thereupon give him in charge, but lo! the bird had flown, and was nowhere to be found.—Tumut Times.

A Constable Committed to Take his Trial for Theft.—At the Police Court, Binalong, on the 23rd instant, before Messrs. Beckham and Paterson, John Bright (the constable who shot Gilbert in the late encounter with the bushrangers) was brought up, charged with stealing £12 in bank notes, the property of Sergeant Hales. James Stephenson, being sworn, deposed: I am a sub-inspector of police; on the 22nd October I told the prisoner, John Bright, that Sergeant Hales had reported to me that £12 in bank notes had been stolen out of his box in the room occupied by him (Sergeant Hales) at the police station, and that the sergeant suspected him (Bright) of having stolen the notes; I said to Bright, I want to see what money you have got; he went to his room occupied by him, and handed me the sum of £64 11s. in cheques and notes; he said that was all the money he had; I examined the notes handed me by Bright, and found five of them to correspond with the description of those lost by Sergeant Hales, and identified by the latter as his property [the witness had described the notes]; when I found these I said, "How do you account for these notes, Bright?" he said, "I hardly know how to account for them, I think I must have got them from Mr. Howard in paying a bill;" I asked him for the bill, and he produced it, I then charged him on suspicion of stealing £12 in bank notes out of sergeant Hales's box; he said, "Very well;" sergeant Hales gave me a list of the notes lost previous to finding them on the prisoner. Charles Hales, sworn, deposed: I am a sergeant of police, stationed in Binalong; on the 16th of this month I had two £5 notes of the Oriental Bank, and seven £1 notes of the Commercial Bank in my box in my room; I saw them last in my box on the 19th; I called Bright into my room on that day, and took these five £1 notes and two £5 notes out of my box, and gave Bright one of the £5 notes to settle an account, and I then placed these notes in the same place in Bright's presence; on the evening of the 19th or 20th I went to my box for some money, but it was all gone; my room is in the court-house; it is always locked when I am out; the key I leave in the magistrates' room, which is not locked; the trunk was locked, and the key in my pocket; on the 21st I received two of the stolen notes from Bright in change for some cheques; I then suspected Bright of having robbed me, and I thought it my duty to report the matter to sub-inspector Stephenson. By Mr. Stephenson: I identify these seven notes as my property by the numbers; I received the notes from the Commercial Bank in Yass, and have never paid them away to anyone. By the prisoner: I did not tell you that I lost the money on Wednesday morning. To the Bench: It was on Friday, the 20th, that I told prisoner that I had lost this money; I told Bright on two previous occasions that I had lost money. To the prisoner: I told you not to tell anyone that I had lost this money, because I had the numbers and could identify it if found. William Howard was then examined, and deposed that Bright had business transactions with him, and that he changed several cheques for Bright since the 14th, but could not identify any of the notes alleged to have been stolen as any of those he gave in change for Bright's cheques. This closed the case, and the prisoner was then cautioned as to any statement he might make; the only statement he made was that he wished to say that he was not guilty of stealing this money. He was then committed to take his trial at the next Court of General Quarter Sessions to be held in Yass. Bail allowed—himself in £200, and two sureties in £100 each. The prisoner was forwarded into Yass the same day by the gold escort.—Yass Courier.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

From 20th October to 27th October.

Another tree marked with Leichhardt's initial L has been discovered by Mr. Hays on Richmond Downs. It is situated on the bank of the Flinders River about a hundred miles to the east of Port Bowen. The finding of this tree on Richmond Downs proves that Leichhardt must have followed up the river for at least one hundred miles.

Hastily leaving his own vehicle, he sprang to the back of the omnibus, and clambered over the roof into the box. The reins were gone, but dark as it was he descended to the pole, bestrode one of the horses, got possession of the "ribbons," and so finally stopped the horses before any harm was done.

The names of the persons killed are Robert Cunningham, second engineer; Hugh Jones, fireman; George Hill, fireman; and Salvador Fernandez, a Sardinian. The names of the wounded men are Thomas Hickey, the chief engineer, and Robert Young, one of his assistants. Of the above number, 320 orders were for England, 316 for Ireland, and 110 for Scotland; the total amount remitted being £3802 3s. 2d. The increasing use that is being made of the Money Order Office is a proof of the extending appreciation amongst the less wealthy portions of the community of this mode of forwarding small sums of money to distant friends.

NEW SOUTH WALES PARLIAMENT.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

Friday, October 27.

The Speaker took the chair at twenty-nine minutes past 3 o'clock.

QUESTIONS.

Mr. PICKERING asked the Secretary for Lands, "If he will lay upon the table of this House an amended return to an order made by the Assembly, on the 28th April, 1865, on the motion of Mr. Donnelly, for statistics respecting the gold-fields; the return laid before the House, in obedience to such Order, containing extraordinary inaccuracies in respect to the number of miners' rights, business licenses, and leases of auriferous tracts, issued by the commissioners on the Gold-Fields North?"

Mr. ARNOLD said he purposed laying upon the table an amended return, as soon as the forms of the House would permit him to do so.

Mr. PICKERING asked the Secretary for Lands, "1. Whether he is aware that the Rocky River gold-field has been 'thrown in' to the Saumarez Run (in the occupation of Mr. Thomas) for pastoral purposes by the appraisers, and whether such procedure is approved, and will be confirmed by the Government? 2. What were the original dimensions of the Saumarez Run? 3. Did it embrace the area of country known as the Rocky River gold-field at the time that field was proclaimed?"

Mr. ARNOLD said he had obtained a reply from the Commissioner of Crown Lands for the district to this effect—1. The Rocky River gold-field had not been thrown into the Saumarez run by the appraiser. Lands are not withdrawn from lease by being proclaimed a gold-field unless specially reserved, and the appraisement in this case has been made exclusively of the reserves, as recently defined by proclamation. 2. The area of the run is 200,000 acres. 3. Yes.

Mr. STIMPSON asked the Colonial Secretary, "Whether the report that appeared in the Bathurst Times, on the 7th instant, was correct in stating that Henry Arkell Smith was to be appointed Police Magistrate of Carcoar, in place of L. V. Dulhunty, to be removed to Wellington?"

Mr. COWPER, in reply, said Mr. Dulhunty would not be removed to Wellington, nor would Mr. Smith be appointed in his stead.

Mr. STIMPSON asked the Secretary for Lands, "Whether he is aware that the gold diggers are sinking holes on the main line of road between Carcoar and Bathurst; and whether the Government will take any steps to put a stop to it in future?"

Mr. ARNOLD said he had procured a reply by telegraph from Chief Commissioner Douglass, who stated that some holes had been sunk by diggers, who had left the ground, on the old road, long unused on account of a deep gully intersecting it, but no holes had been sunk on the eastern road now in use.

Mr. EAGAR asked the Minister acting for the Colonial Treasurer, "Whether a legacy or succession duty of 10 per cent. is charged by the Government upon the property of a deceased husband passing to his widow?"

Mr. SMART, in reply, stated that a duty of 10 per cent. was chargeable, by a defect in the Act, on legacies and successions devolving to widows; but in no case had it been enforced by the Government, the matter being left in abeyance in anticipation of Parliament consenting to an amended Stamp Act.

Mr. EAGAR asked the Minister acting for the Colonial Treasurer, "In what way, and under what arrangements, are the Border Customs duties now collected?"

Mr. SMART, in reply, stated that the duties were collected according to existing Tariff Acts, under the authority of the Act 27th Vic., No. 15, construed by the Act 9th Vic., No. 15, and by means of officers stationed respectively at Moama, Albury, Corowa, Euston, Swan Hill, and Wentworth, and by the South Australian Government.

Mr. EAGAR asked the Minister acting for the Colonial Treasurer, "What steps have been taken to provide for the payment of debentures for the sum of £300,000, falling due on the 1st January, 1866?"

Mr. SMART, in reply, stated that debentures under the provisions of 29 Vic., No. 5, were transmitted to England for sale by the last mail, with a credit to the Oriental Bank to pay the debentures falling due in the early part of 1866.

Mr. EAGAR asked the Minister acting for the Colonial Treasurer, "1. Is there any arrangement existing with the Bank of New South Wales for the conduct of the Government banking business, or any portion thereof, in London? 2. Is there any arrangement existing with the Oriental Bank Corporation for the conduct of the Government banking business, or any portion thereof, in London?"

Mr. SMART, in reply, said, 1. No arrangement. 2 Yes.

Mr. BUCHANAN asked the Colonial Secretary, "Is it the intention of the Government to carry out the sentence passed upon Gannon, found guilty of personation at an election, by insisting on payment of the fine?"

Mr. COWPER said his Excellency had already pardoned Gannon.

Mr. RODD asked the Secretary for Lands, "1. Whether Mr. Commissioner Griffin was at any date suspended from his office? 2. If so, for what reason? 3. The amount of salary last paid to Mr. Griffin? 4. The date of payment of such salary?"

Mr. ARNOLD, in reply, stated—1. That Mr. Commissioner Griffin had been suspended from his office. 2. Because he failed to adjust his accounts, and showed a general disregard of letters addressed to him on matters of account. 3. On reference to the Treasury it appeared that the amount of salary last paid to Mr. Griffin was £618 6s. 8d. 4. This payment was made on the 6th September of the present year.

PAPERS.

Mr. ARNOLD laid upon the table a return to order on motion of the hon. member for the Northern Gold-Fields, amended in respect of matters referred to in a question just put by the hon. member, and proceeding a quarter beyond the previous return.

Mr. SMART laid upon the table a report from Captain Mayne, relative to alleged overcharges for railway iron in England.

It was ordered that the documents be printed.

PETITIONS.

Mr. CUNNEEN presented a petition from certain farmers and others, on the Macdonald River (Hawkesbury electorate), alleging that it was the custom to sell maize at 60 lbs. to the bushel, and that the cornfactors retailed it by measures of about 56 lbs. to the bushel, and praying that the weight per bushel might be made uniformly 56 lbs.

Mr. FARNELL presented a petition from George Webb, relative to his dismissal from the public service, and praying a favourable consideration of his case.

Petitions received.

It was ordered that the following be printed:—Petition of Hyam Phillips, presented by Mr. Forlonge on the 26th instant; and the petition of Nathaniel Lipscombe Kentish, presented by Mr. Buchanan on the 26th instant.

The House, at ten minutes before 4 o'clock, adjourned until 3 o'clock on Tuesday next.

LAW.

GOULBURN CIRCUIT COURT.

(From the Goulburn Herald.)

Wednesday, October 25.

Before Sir Alfred Stephen.

INDECENT ASSAULT.

Archibald Robinson was placed on his trial for that he did, at Queanbeyan, commit an indecent assault upon Susan Jackson, on the 19th October, and pleaded not guilty.

The prisoner was undefended.

The learned Crown Prosecutor stated the particulars of the case to the jury, observing that the facts disclosed on the depositions were very plain. Susan Jackson, the girl upon whom this assault had been committed, was a nursemaid in the family of J. J. Wright, of Queanbeyan, who resides a short distance from the town, at a place known as the Mill House; in the evening, of the day upon which the prisoner is charged with the commission of the offence she was sent by her mistress to the store, which is about a quarter of a mile away from the house, when she met the prisoner; they walked in company to a Mrs. Balls', but before they got there the prisoner asked her to give him a kiss, when she said "I'll give you one;" this, she stated, was to get rid of him; when she came out from Mrs. Balls' the prisoner said "Is that you?" he then added, "You are too flash," and threw her down; she struggled and resisted him; he threw her down again, when she a second time succeeded in preventing him effecting his purpose, the girl made a complaint immediately, which would do away with any supposition that her story was a concocted one; after she had made the complaint to her mistress she went to her father, who resides near the Mill House, and the consequence was that prisoner was apprehended. Upon his being apprehended he denied the charge, but said that he had been skylarking with the girl on the hill. It appeared that since these circumstances transpired the girl had been advised by some old woman, the wife of a Chinaman, to write a letter in order that she (the prosecutrix) might avoid coming to the Court. In this letter she expressed her regret at getting the prisoner into trouble; her father would not hear anything, but rushed out for the police. "If you (meaning the prisoner) will marry me there will be an end to the matter. Let me have an answer, I shall be in Goulburn on Monday." This letter was addressed to the prisoner, at the gaol, and was intercepted by the authorities. The prosecutrix would, however, state, that she had no intention of marrying the prisoner, but that she was persuaded to write this to avoid giving her evidence to-day. Supposing she did repent making this charge, she did not withdraw it, and this story did not affect her credibility. He (the learned Crown Prosecutor) submitted that it was a very aggravated case, and if the evidence was made out a most indecent assault had been committed by the prisoner at the bar.

The facts, as mentioned by the Crown Prosecutor, were fully proved in evidence, and his Honor having summed up, the jury, without leaving the box, returned a verdict of guilty.

His Honor sentenced the prisoner to twelve months' hard labour in Parramatta gaol.

ASSAULTS AT GILMORE.

Robert Blosse Lynch, assistant gold commissioner at Tumberumba, and Charles George Norman Lockhart, commissioner of Crown lands for the Murrumbidgee district, were charged each with assaulting each other at Gilmore, near Adelong, on the 21st August last.

The case was of the nature of a cross action, and both defendants were given in charge to one jury.

Mr. Blake defended Lynch, and Mr. C. H. Walsh, in the absence of a second member of the Bar, defended Lockhart.

The case lasted the rest of the day, and was not concluded when the Court rose.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Friday.

Before their Worships the Police Magistrate, Messrs. Oatley, Dangar, Pinhey, Levy, and Ross.

Of nine prisoners brought before the Court one was discharged and three were remanded.

Three females, apprehended for drunkenness, having neither fixed abodes nor lawful means of support, were committed to gaol for one month.

Eliza Jackson was found guilty of having assaulted by striking one John Tucker, and was sentenced to pay a penalty of 20s., or to be imprisoned seven days. The parties are occupants of sites in the Campbell-street Market, and quarrelled; words led to blows; the question was, which of the two was the first to strike, and the balance of evidence being in favour of complainant, the Bench gave him the benefit of it, while unquestionably on one side or the other gross perjury was committed.

Thomas Burrows, committed yesterday for stealing harness, was to-day charged with having stolen from the stables of Mr. Timmins, Clarence-street, sundry articles of harness, part the property of Timmins and part the property of John Harrison. The harness was produced, having been left for sale at Burt's Repository. Thomas Timmins identified a collar, a hame, a bridle, and a set of traces, as his property, and valued them at 8s.; they were stolen from him on the 15th October. John Harrison identified a saddle and breechings (produced), which had been found at Burt and Co.'s, as his property, worth £3 10s.; he left them in charge of the groom having the management of Timmins's stables. William Ellard, bookkeeper to Burt and Co., deposed that the articles in Court were brought to him for sale by prisoner. The prisoner offered no defence. Committed for trial on both charges.

On the summons paper were twenty-three cases. Bridget Purcell was found guilty of having assaulted Ellen Noonan, and was fined 10s. John Duffy was fined 20s. for being the owner of a dog which rushed at and attacked a horse in Macquarie-street, thereby endangering public safety. Chauncy Leicester and Martin Keeshon, publicans, were each fined 20s. for keeping open house for the sale of liquor on Sunday. Jorgen Thompson, for a like offence, was fined 10s. John Armstrong was fined 20s. for allowing music in his house, not having previously obtained the required permission. Mary Walker was fined 1s. for leaving a public-house on Sunday, having liquor in her possession. Eight persons were fined for violations of the Police Act—cattle astray, illegal distance from horses, and such like. Of the rest, three were postponed, two were withdrawn, and in one a warrant was ordered for the apprehension of the defendant.

The Roster.—Mr. Wrench has been summoned for Bench duty on Saturday.

WATER POLICE COURT.

Friday.

Before Mr. J. I. Kettle and Mr. R. Hill.

Henry Bell, for riotous behaviour in Kellet-street, was fined 20s., and Thomas Burns was fined 10s. for making use of obscene language on the South Head Road.

Charles Brown, a seaman belonging to the ship Notion, was sentenced to fourteen days' hard labour in gaol for absenting himself from duty without leave.

On the summons list there were seven cases, five of which were withdrawn and one postponed. George Brevitt was charged with stealing. Richard Brevitt (his brother), storekeeper, Stanley-street, stated in evidence that during the month of July last he missed two meerschaum pipes and a waistcoat (value 20s.), from a box in the house where defendant is lodging in Crown-street. They were found in defendant's box. In defence he stated that he had had charge of his brother's things for three years. Fined 20s., or to be imprisoned forty-eight hours.

RAILWAY IRON—CAPTAIN MAYNE'S REPORT.

The following paper was yesterday laid upon the table of the Legislative Assembly:—

36, Cannon-street, London,
24th April, 1865.

Sir,—Having reference to your letter of the 21st November, 1864, I have the honour to enclose, for the information of the Hon. Secretary for Public Works, my report on the purchases of railway iron for the Government of New South Wales.

I have the honour to be, Sir, your obedient servant,
(Signed) W. C. Mayne,
Agent for the colony of New South Wales.
The Under Secretary for Public Works.

REPORT.

In pursuance of the instructions of the Hon. the Secretary for Public Works, under date 21st November last, on my arrival in England, to investigate into and report upon all the circumstances connected with the purchase of railway iron and the actual value of the rails and chairs so purchased, I lost no time after reaching London in addressing myself to the inquiry directed.

2. Mr. Hamilton, having, in his letter of the 26th January last, placed the Government in possession of full and detailed information respecting the mode of obtaining and dealing with tenders for railway iron, has rendered unnecessary for me, as regards that, to do more than, referring the Secretary for Public Works to that communication, to state in addition, that I have seen and examined the specifications, tenders, and Captain Galton's abstracts of these, with the accepted tenders noted; and that following the acceptance, I have seen and examined the reports made from time to time by Mr. Fowler's assistants, detailing their supervision and inspection of the work in progress, at the factories—the tests they applied, and the results; all these leaving no room to doubt that watchful supervision was exercised, and stringent means adopted, to secure the material being, in each case, in strict accordance with the specification.

Mr. Hamilton has also in his letter of the 26th January last, so fully disposed of the question of the difference between the prices quoted in the Economist and those charged to New South Wales, that it is unnecessary for me to encumber this report by repeating, as substantially as I could do, what he has written on the subject; I have only to say that all my information entirely bears out what he has stated on the general question of difference between quoted prices, and those for material under stringent conditions.

3. Proceeding to the question of prices paid for and actual value of the railway iron supplied, I sought and obtained introductions to gentlemen largely connected with railways here, competent to afford me the information I desired, and thoroughly reliable from position, experience, and absolute disinterestedness as regarded the matters and persons involved.

The first of those to whom I applied for information (having been introduced to him by a relative of my own) was Mr. Henry Woodhouse, resident engineer of the southern division of the London and North Western Railway Company.

Mr. Woodhouse has charge of some 600 miles of rail over which passes a traffic certainly greater than that over any other 600 miles in the world. His practical experience of all that is connected with permanent way material is consequently wide and simple; his intelligence and capacity are vouched by his having for years, and to the entire satisfaction of the great company he serves, held the important office he fills.

Proceeding to Stafford for the purpose, I had an interview with Mr. Woodhouse, and having placed in his hands the specifications, several of the tenders, the quantities of and prices paid for permanent way material supplied to the Government of New South Wales during the years 1859, 1860, 1861, 1862, and 1863; having, also, handed to him the official report, as to the quality of the material (read to the Assembly by Mr. Secretary Holroyd), together with his (Mr. Holroyd's) reiterated testimony as to the state of the rails after five or six years wear, with a request that he would, after having gone through and considered the whole matter, favour me with his opinion as to the prices charged and paid; and having, in subsequent interviews with Mr. Woodhouse, after he had read and carefully considered the papers, discussed the matter in detail and at considerable length,—he gave it to me as his distinct opinion, having regard to the specifications requiring an exceptional make of rail, and the tests being very severe,—to the quality of the material as proved by those tests, and by actual wear, and to all the circumstances that, with the exception of one lot, 94 tons, the prices charged and paid were not in excess of the current rates of the periods for material of the quality supplied, or more than sufficient to give that reasonable and fair profit which the iron and every other trade—properly and prudently conducted—has a right to claim and secure.

4. The following were, I have satisfied myself, the circumstances in which the ninety-four tons referred to in the preceding paragraph, were obtained:—

Captain Galton mentioned in a communication to Mr. Fowler, that Lord Dudley's works were making very good iron, and, finding that no tender had been sent in from those works, recurred to the subject in a second communication to Mr. Fowler.

Lord Dudley's manager then tendered "as a sample" to supply one hundred tons at £9 per ton, and the tender was accepted for 94 tons by Captain Galton, doubtless for the purpose of testing the quality of the iron that had been mentioned to him as "very good." The result of the experiment I have no means of tracing, but I conclude that the Railway department can furnish it.

5. Considering it desirable to have a second entirely impartial, independent, and reliable opinion—drawn from a comparison of prices paid by railway companies in England with those paid by the Government of New South Wales—I obtained an introduction to Mr. Forbes, the general manager of the London, Chatham, and Dover Railway—a gentleman standing high in estimation for ability, experience, and intimate practical acquaintance with all connected with railway management—and placed in his hands the whole of the documents which I had submitted to Mr. Woodhouse, with a request that he would have a comparison of the prices made, and would favour me with his opinion on the whole question. Mr. Forbes very kindly consented to do so, and placed the matter for comparison in the hands of an assistant, whom he knew to be thoroughly competent to the task.

Having carefully analysed the comparison made between the prices paid at periods the most nearly approaching each other, by some of the great railway companies of England and by the Government of New South Wales, and having considered the documents I had put before him, Mr. Forbes gave it to me, as his distinct opinion, that, in cases where the prices charged to New South Wales were higher than those charged to the English companies, the difference was fully and satisfactorily accounted for by the different conditions and circumstances; and, having regard to the generally stringent nature of the specifications, but especially to one particular condition in them, not usual but decidedly favourable to the Government, "a condition to which the contractors are extremely averse, as involving possible losses to a considerable amount, and for which they would certainly charge an increased rate,"—to the severity of the tests which, from Mr. Fowler's known character as to supervision and inspection, contractors would regard as certain to be applied,—to the quality of the material furnished proved by actual wear,—to the difference to be taken into calculation on account of the delivery at the docks instead of at the railway station (involving certain additional cost and possible delay and loss to the contractors), and to all the circumstances, that the prices paid by the Government of New South Wales for the material supplied were not in excess of the current rates of the periods for material of equal quality, and that the colony had been uprightly and fairly dealt with in the matter.

6. The special condition in the specifications referred to as unusual, and disliked by contractors, is to be found where, after stringent provisions for supervision and testing at the contractor's works, the specifications go on to say: "But notwithstanding such tests and inspection, any rails may be rejected on delivery which, in his (Mr. Fowler's) judgment, are defective in any respect, and if labour should be required for turning over and examining the rails at the port of delivery the manufacturer is to supply it."

This, it will be seen, continues the liability of the contractors to have the rails (under the terms of the specifications without appeal) thrown back upon his hands, after having incurred the cost of carriage to the port, and to have either to sell them—thus depreciated by rejection at any price obtainable, or to incur the fresh cost of carriage back.

The insertion of such a condition shews, I consider, that Mr. Fowler has sought, very carefully, to guard the interests of the colony in the matter, and has not sought to court or conciliate the contractors.

The importance and value of stringent and well considered measures to secure permanent way material of the kind best suited to the particular traffic, and in a special degree of lasting quality in a case where freight and labour so materially enhance prime cost, are so obvious that they cannot fail to be recognised.

7. Mr. Fowler, it is right to mention, has the character of carrying out very rigid supervision and inspection, and of applying severe tests, and this is a matter which—I have had conclusive proof afforded me—materially weighs with contractors in making their tenders.

As direct evidence of this, I may mention that I have seen a letter to a railway company from a manufacturer who had agreed to furnish material at a certain price, and who, on finding that it was to be subject to the supervision and tests of a particular engineer (not Mr. Fowler, but one having a like character for strictness), drew back from his agreement, but—and this as a concession in the circumstances—offered to furnish the material, subject to the required supervision and tests, at a rate, however, of 15s. per ton over the price named, before he was aware of who the inspecting engineer was to be.

8. Every person with whom I have been in communication respecting the matters involved in my inquiry, has, on being told that the tenders had been invited and dealt with by Captain Galton, on the instant said that such being the case, the colony had the very highest guarantee that universally recognised professional ability, exalted character, and unblemished honour could afford.

9. Mr. Fowler's high professional standing, his very large and profitable employment, dependent on upright discharge of duty—his character for strict and watchful supervision—all afford guarantees for a faithful discharge of professional duty, and the stringent nature of his specifications, and the facts prove that such discharge of it has not been wanting.

10. Guided then by the concurring opinions I have given, emanating from able, experienced, and practical men, after investigation and consideration of the matter submitted to them, and having regard also to all the facts and circumstances, I have to report that I consider it beyond all doubt that in the purchase of permanent way material during the periods in question, the colony was zealously, faithfully, and efficiently served, and was not charged, for the material supplied, prices in excess of the fair current rates of the periods for material of the quality obtained under the particular specifications in force.

(Signed) W. C. Mayne,
Agent for the Colony of New South Wales.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION MATCHES.

Third Day.

The third day of the present annual rifle gathering was in every respect an unpleasant one. The morning of yesterday opened uncomfortably warm, and, as the forenoon advanced, a hot wind came on to blow furiously, which, with incessant clouds of dust, rendered shooting on the exposed ranges at Randwick almost intolerable. The heat was so intense that no sooner had a squad of men finished firing at any range, than they rushed off to get shelter from the scorching sun and fiery blasts of the hot wind. Fortunately, about noon the wind swept round to the southward, and eventually to the eastward, which rendered the afternoon pleasantly cool, although the variableness of the wind was very unfavourable to accurate shooting.

The first competition, yesterday, was the first three ranges of the Small-bore All-comers' Match, namely, at 200, 300, and 500 yards. The conditions were—any rifle, any position; seven shots at each range, and two prizes at each range. The first prize at 200 yards was won by Corporal Lynch, with 27 points—a most excellent score, rarely surpassed in the best of weather; there were several ties for the second prize. At the next distance, Mr. Brownlow secured the first prize with a score of 26—a truly extraordinary score under the circumstances—while Mr. Slade pulled off the second with 25. At 500 yards, Mr. A. Wickham occupied the premier position with 26, and there were two ties of 25 for second place.

The next match was that for Marksmen, at 700 and 800 yards, five shots at each with the Enfield rifle in Hythe position. Mr. Slade was again fortunate in securing first prize in this match, with 23 points, Mr. Rayner being second with 22, and Lieutenant M'Dougall third with 22. The shooting for the Members' Enfield was also commenced, but it will not be completed till to-day, at present they are three ties of 21 for first place.

The arrangements of yesterday were under the direction of Lieutenant-Colonel Richardson, Mr. E. Wyld, and the honorary secretary, assisted by Captains Eastwood and Baynes. Dr. Aaron, one of the battalion surgeons, was present yesterday, as also on the two previous days. There were several delays in the shooting yesterday and the time consequently on the table was not kept, but, by judicious arrangement on the part of the committee, assisted by sergeant-major Lees—to whose energy and perseverance in carrying out the details the success of the meeting to a considerable extent is attributable—all of the shooting was brought to a close long before sundown.

Among the attractions for to-day, will be the shooting off of ties accumulated during the meeting, and the firing of a match by non-commissioned officers.

The appended lists give the names of the competitors in both the seventh and ninth matches, the scoring in the former and the scoring in the latter, so far as it has gone:—

Seventh (Marksmen's) Match.

For all Volunteer marksmen from the formation of the present corps up to 1864 inclusive, with Enfields at 700 and 800 yards; each competitor to have 5 shots at each range, the highest scorers throughout—or in case of ties the highest at 800 yards—to be declared the winners. Entrance, 5s. £10 for this match presented by Captain Eastwood, and £5 by Captain Still, supplemented with £15 by the Association.

THE LATE BOILER EXPLOSION ON BOARD THE AGNES IRVING.

(From the Clarence and Richmond Examiner, October 24.)

THE INQUEST.

On Saturday morning an inquest was held at the Company's store, before Mr. A. Lardner, J.P., coroner, and a jury of sixteen.

After viewing the bodies, an adjournment took place until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at the Grafton Hospital, in order to take the evidence of Mr. Hickey, the chief engineer, which being done, the inquest was further adjourned until 10 a.m. on Monday, at the Company's stores.

On Monday, the inquest was resumed, and after hearing the evidence of Captain Maides, Mr. Mann, the chief officer; Mr. P. L. Fraser, engineer; Mr. E. Creer, engineer; and Dr. Smith, the jury retired to consider their verdict at 9.30 p.m., and after three hours and a half deliberation returned into Court at 1 in the morning with the following unanimous verdict, "We find that the death of Robert Cunningham, Hugh Jones, Salvadora Fernandez, and George Hill was caused by the bursting of the port boiler of the Agnes Irving, steamboat, off Ulmarra, Clarence River, on the morning of the 20th instant; and we are of opinion that the inspection of the said boiler shows that it has been for some time past in a defective state."

The following rider adopted by twelve to four was attached to the verdict:—"The jury are of opinion that in consequence of the decayed state of the boilers, due care has not been taken to keep them in a sufficient state of repair for the safety of the vessel."

Considerable interest was manifested to learn the result of the investigation, numbers remaining on the wharf until the verdict was announced.

The Agnes Irving was towed up to the Company's Wharf by the river steamers Uloom and Ulmarra, on Saturday morning. After undergoing some temporary repairs to her steering gear, she will proceed to Sydney.

Monday Evening.—The steering gear having been taken off the Agnes Irving's rudder, to-day, and the vessel lightened astern, the damage to her hull is found not to be so great as was at first anticipated. All the twisting has been confined to the rudder trunk. The vessel is going on to Port Jackson with one boiler, and Captain Maides expects to be ready for starting by Wednesday or Thursday next.

THE CROPS IN SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

(From the S. A. Register, October 16.)

Until within the last week or two we believe the general impression of those capable of forming an opinion was that the harvest, though a late one, would show an average yield, or something approaching the average. We are sorry to say, however, that the experience of the last few days has altered that opinion, and now it is predicted with some amount of confidence that the harvest will be much below the mark. It will be late and it will be small. Of course our readers know that the predictions of those who profess to be able to foretel the conditions of the harvest are apt to be falsified. There are few persons in a suitable position to report fairly on the state of the crops in all parts of the colony, and the only way to reach the true result is to take an average of the whole. Failure in one locality is often compensated for by abundance in another. It requires, therefore, a person to be well acquainted with all the corn-growing districts of the colony to be able to predict with any amount of confidence the harvest result of the whole. It is not always safe to trust to reports from the districts themselves. Farmers are proverbially a grumbling class in England, and it may be that they have brought this peculiarity with them here, though we should be more disposed to say they are an anxious class rather than that they are grumblers. And there is surely sufficient reason for anxiety, especially in a land where climate is so changeable as this. Farmers everywhere are dependent for success on influences which are beyond their control. After they have done their best, the blast of a hot wind coming at a dangerous time may destroy the labours of a year. Their anxiety, then, ought not to awaken surprise. And it is this that prevents them always being reliable witnesses as to the state of their crops. With every desire to declare the truth as it is, these anxious fears may lead them to anticipate the worst, and to give a greater prominence to unfavourable symptoms than they ought.

But making all proper allowance for this tendency, we are sorry to learn that the opinion is pretty general that the crops will be considerably below the average. Already in several districts they are looking poor. Those ominous bare patches which cause the agriculturist so much anxiety wherever they make their appearance are showing themselves both on the hills and on the plains rather too prominently. We have heard the opinion expressed by a practical man, whose business brings him into relation with the agricultural interest, that the average of the crops will not be more than eight bushels to the acre. Others make the average from eight to ten bushels. Either of these estimates will be poor compared with the usual yield. It will be seen, however, from a paragraph we published on Saturday, that Mr. Walter Thomson, of O'Halloran Hill, who has a right to speak on a question of this kind, takes a somewhat more favourable view of the prospects of the harvest. While admitting that it will be below the average, he thinks it will only be from a bushel to a bushel and a half less than that of last year. So far we have spoken only of the yield per acre; but on the other side it must be borne in mind that a much greater breadth of land is under wheat this year than in former years. We may safely infer this from two facts—first the high price of wheat during the past year; and, secondly, the large amount of land which farmers have been purchasing. It is found as an invariable rule that when prices have ruled high one year a larger area of land is sown the next. The good prices give encouragement to the farmers to sow largely. Hope is awakened and inspires increased exertion. When prices are low it is just the reverse. The agriculturists grow discouraged, and, having done badly in the past, they fear to venture much for the future. The two last seasons, it it is well known, have been very favourable ones, and the farmers have been in a highly prosperous condition. They have placed money in their pockets, and the advantages they have reaped have been extended to almost every other class of the community except sheep farmers. We may fairly infer, then, that encouraged by the past, the farmers have placed a large quantity of land under cereal crops.

And this inference is confirmed by the second fact we have mentioned—that the agriculturists have been purchasing considerable quantities of land. Notwithstanding the difficulty which is said to be experienced by this class in obtaining on fair and equal terms their just share in the Crown lands, they have been laying out large sums of money in increasing the size of their farms. It is not too much to say that a considerable amount of the profits which they have obtained during the last few years have been invested in land. As a rule the farmers live quietly and inexpensively, and the bulk of their profits is employed in purchasing land, which is, of course, immediately devoted to the growth of cereals. Taking these two facts together, then, there is sufficient reason to believe that a greater area is under wheat cultivation this year than has ever been before. We may therefore hope that the greater breadth of land sown will make up to some extent for the deficiency in the average yield.

Much, however, will depend on the state of the weather the next few weeks. It is feared that much of the seed sown is irretrievably gone—gone past recall—and that which remains will be good or bad as we have suitable or unsuitable weather. A considerable quantity of rain this month and during the early part of November would, in all probability, make the difference between a moderate crop and a bad one. If we have the rains which we are accustomed to look for at this season and the hot winds keep off, the ears will fill, and what now remains will be saved. But if the long season of drought which we have had, and which has awakened so much anxiety should continue much longer, then the gravest apprehension will be felt as to the coming harvest. This, however, is a matter beyond our control, and speculation about it is idle. We can only wait with what patience we may, and, having done what we could to ensure a favourable harvest, leave the result to that Providence which overrules all human affairs.

The mischief is not so far advanced as to destroy all hope that we may have a moderate harvest yet. Favourable weather during the next few weeks would be of incalculable benefit to the crops. We should be sorry to make a desponding view of matters in the agricultural world. Many of our readers will remember that dismal forebodings have before been felt at this season with respect to the approaching harvests, and these forebodings have not always been realised. So much of the prosperity of the colony depends on good cereal crops that it is no wonder anxiety should be felt, or that this anxiety should sometimes run into fear, or that fear should express itself in stronger terms than are really warranted by existing facts.

A good harvest not only benefits the farming interest, but almost every other interest in the colony. The money obtained for breadstuffs is put into active circulation amongst tradesmen and others, and fructifies wherever it goes. South Australia is peculiarly an agricultural colony. The production of wheat is one of our great staple trades, and it is impossible for the farmers to suffer as a class without its affecting the general prosperity of the community. There are many and weighty reasons, then why we should be anxious about the harvest. It is a vital question with us, and must always remain so. But so far there is no reason why our anxiety should be excessive or should degenerate into despondency. We do not disguise from ourselves the thought that a very bad harvest would, in the present state of this colony, be a great and deplorable evil. Provisions are high, beef and mutton unusually so; and from all appearance they will become higher. It is predicted by the knowing ones that in a short time, unless something unlooked-for takes place, a shilling a pound will be the minimum price. If then, in connection with that, the harvest should be bad while the pastoral interest is so much depressed, much suffering would be the result. But we must hope for the best. If the harvest does not meet all the expectations of the sanguine, we may trust it will not realise all the dark forebodings of the gloomy prophets of evil.

The Run Valuations.—The Pastoral Times of 21st instant says:—We are by no means surprised at the dissatisfaction expressed in many of the democratic journals on the result of the valuations of the squattages. From the general tone of these papers for months past, it could be perceived that they grounded their opinions on a false basis. They continually draw comparisons between the rent paid by Crown tenants, and the large sums given by way of premium when the station changed hands. In some instances, statistics were introduced setting forth the value of the flocks and improvements, and showing the absolute sum paid for the good will. This sum, it is argued, should on a revaluation be contributed in the form of increased rent to the Government. If a bare run sold for £5000, and the renewed lease was for five years, then that sum, together with interest, should be divided into five equal portions, and be paid as rent. This was the kind of doctrine used to tickle the ear of those ignorant of pastoral pursuits, and with such good purpose have those views been promulgated that they find several representatives on the right hand of the Speaker. In according these members honesty of purpose, we bespeak the same treatment from them to the valuators; but if each party is equally upright, how egregiously erroneous must be the deductions of one when they arrive at such different conclusions. We conceive the Government acted wisely in not leaving the arbitrations to the Crown Commissioners. Had the valuations been made by them, and even been fifty per cent. higher than now, the cry of corruption would still have been raised, but having deputed some of these officers to the onerous duty, and filled the other appointments by gentlemen, most of them qualified, we are justified in saying that in the absence of any great difference in results, the valuations as now affixed fairly represent the rent the Government is entitled to by law.

Turning the Tables on a Trooper.—A half-caste, of the name of Street, was brought into town on Monday, having been committed by the Hargraves Bench on a charge of horse-stealing. It appears that after the warrant was issued for his apprehension, a trooper was dispatched to arrest the culprit. Upon his arrival at the hut where the prisoner was, instead of making a prisoner of him, the tables were turned, and the policeman found himself covered by the barrel of a gun, and requested to stand himself. This, it appears, he did, according to his own statement, because he could not get at his arms. Under any circumstances the prisoner got clear away, and was ultimately captured in a very plucky manner by constable Price, at Wellington. The constable tracked him over-night to his camp, and rushed him at day-light. If looks are any criterion, the prisoner bears the stamp of a determined ruffian.—Western Post.

A Heavy Loss.—The other day, William Woolnough, carrier, lost fifty one-pound notes and ten five-pound notes, somewhere between Deniliquin and Conargo. He offers a reward of £50 for their recovery; but, considering it blew a gale on the day the notes were lost, the probability of them being recovered is very remote.—Pastoral Times.

There has been rather more activity in the Share Market this week, and an improvement has taken place in the value of the shares of those companies which have presented satisfactory reports at their half-yearly meetings. The fluctuations are as follows :—Commercial Bank shares have improved 5s. per share; Bank of New South Wales shares are very firm, and in consequence of the increase of dividend from 18 to 20 per cent., prices have improved fully £2 per share, there being buyers (ex. dividend) at £43 per share. Australian Joint Stock Bank shares are steady at quotations. City Bank shares are inquired for, and the advance noticed last week has been established. In Steam shares, we have not heard of any sales this week. Insurance shares have fluctuated considerably. New South Wales Marine Assurance shares have improved 10s. per share owing to the satisfactory report presented to the shareholders. United Insurance shares have declined 5s. per share, the Company being unable to declare any dividend this half-year. General Assurance shares are not so firm, and have been sold at a decline of 2s. 6d. per share. The following are the rates at which sales have been made during the week :—Bank of New South Wales, £43 2s. 6d. per share cum div.; Commercial Bank, £52 per share; Australian Joint Stock Bank, £15 per share; City Bank, £10 11s. and £10 12s. 6d. per share. DEBENTURES.—Government debentures are dull of sale. A small sale of interminables has taken place, at 91½ and 92 and interest.

In general business there is scarcely any movement to report in our markets (with the exception of flour) since our monthly Summary was published. The quotations for liquids, teas and sugars, rice, &c., remain unaltered, and sales have been only to a limited amount, and to meet present requirements.

FLOUR.—This market has been in a very disturbed state, and flour has again advanced £2 to £3 per ton. Stocks are small, and held by only two or three parties, it is, therefore, very likely, unless we have some arrivals from California or Chili, that prices will rule higher. Sales of Adelaide are reported at £27 and £28 per ton, and at these high prices holders are unwilling to sell in the present state of the market. Chilian flour has been sold at £24 and £25 per ton. Wheat is very firm; Adelaide has advanced to 10s. 9d. to 11s. per bushel, and Chilian to 10s. per bushel, and sales at these rates have taken place.

TALLOW.—This market continues very firm, and a further advance of from 10s. to 15s. per ton was obtained, to-day, for beef and mutton tallow; 116 casks were sold by the auctioneers, at from £34 to £36 15s. for beef, and £38 15s. for mutton.

Hides are without any alteration. About 1600 were placed to-day, at from 4s. 3d. to 10s. 9d. for light and inferior, and from 11s. to 14s. 6d. for medium to heavy.

The following is the result of the produce sales held to-day :—

Messrs. Mort and Co. sold to-day, by auction, 47 casks of tallow at £34 10s. to £36 5s. per ton. Hides: About 700 were disposed of at 4s. 3d. to 14s. 6d. each. The latter figure was obtained for a lot of 90 heavy hides.

Messrs. Irwin and Turner sold to-day, by auction, 41 casks of tallow at 36s to 38s. 9d. per cwt. Hides: About 900 were sold at 4s. 2d. to 12s. 10d. each. Calfskins 1s. 6d. to 1s. 8d.

Mr. James Graham sold to-day, by auction, 28 casks of tallow at the following prices: Beef, £35 12s. 6d. to £36 15s.; mutton, £38 15s. per ton. Hides: A lot of 15 brought 12s. 3d. each.

SYDNEY LABOUR MARKET.

WILLIAM BROWN.—The demand for labour has improved during the past week, especially for farming men. Numerous engagements have been made at the rates of wages prevalent for some time past. For other descriptions of servants there is not much inquiry. The attendance of persons requiring situations is unusually large, comprising almost every class of servants, both male and female.—October 27th.

COMMERCIAL.

STOCK AND SHARE LISTS.

W. BARTON.—A greater disposition to operate has been shown this week in consequence of the reports at half-yearly meetings, the full effect of which will be shown hereafter. My sales this week consist of:—Commercial Bank shares, at £52; Joint Stock Bank ditto, at £15; City Bank ditto, at £10 12s 6d; United Insurance ditto, at £1 5s; Debentures, New South Wales Government interminable, at 91½ per cent., and interest accrued. The following half-yearly meetings of shareholders have been held this week:—The Illawarra Steam Navigation Company.—The dividend was declared at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, as before, and the debt reduced to £8554. The Bank of New South Wales.—The dividend increased from 15 to 20 per cent. per annum, leaving £3521 at credit of profit and loss. The New South Wales Marine Assurance Company.—Dividend at the rate of 20 per cent. per annum, as before, the reserve increased to £20,000, leaving £3534 at credit of profit and loss. The United Fire and Marine Insurance Company.—The losses exceeding the receipts for premiums, no dividend was declared. The Waratah Coal Company.—Dividend increased from 6 to 8 per cent. per annum, leaving £2704 at credit of profit and loss.—October 27th.

LENNON AND CAPP.—A large amount of capital has been invested through us during the present week, the principal transactions having been in Bank of New South Wales shares and New Zealand Government debentures. The half-yearly meetings of the following companies have been held during the week, and with one exception the reports submitted exhibited an improvement on the previous half-year:—Bank of New South Wales, dividend at the rate of 20 per cent. per annum; New South Wales Marine Assurance, at rate of 20 per cent. ditto; Illawarra Steam Navigation Company, at rate of 8 per cent. ditto; Waratah Coal Company, at rate of 8 per cent. ditto; United Fire and Marine Insurance, no dividend owing to heavy losses during the half-year. Our sales during the week have been, in Bank of New South Wales, £43 2s 6d, with dividend; Commercial Bank, £52; Australian Joint Stock Bank, £15; City Bank, £10 12s 6d; New Zealand Government, 8 per cent. debentures due 1867, at 100½ and interest.—October 27th.

J. MULLENS.—The various half-yearly meetings held during the week have affected prices somewhat, as noted below. The increased dividend of the Bank of New South Wales has caused a considerable advance—buyers £43, sellers £44. Commercial Bank shares have risen 2s 6d, and are still wanted. City Bank shares are firm at £10 12s 6d. New South Wales Marine shares have improved 10s on last sales, while General Assurance shares have declined 2s 6d, and United Assurance shares 5s per share. Sales of Waratah Coal shares have been made for the first time for some months past at prices from 2s 6d to 5s better than last quotations. My sales this week have been—Australian Joint Stock Bank shares, at £15; City Bank shares, at £10 12s 6d; Commercial Bank shares, at £52; Australian General Assurance shares, at £2 12s 6d; New South Wales Marine Assurance shares, at £4 10s; Waratah Coal shares, at £3 2s 6d.; Peak Downs Copper shares, at £1.—October 27th.

W. CHATFIELD.—There has been a fair amount of business transacted during the week, chiefly in bank stock, of which I have effected sales in Bank of New South Wales at £43 2s 6d, City Bank at £10 11s and £10 12s 6d, Joint Stock Bank at £15. The half-yearly meeting of the Bank of New South Wales was held on the 25th instant; a dividend at the rate of 15 per cent. and a bonus at the rate of 5 per cent. were declared. The United Insurance and the New South Wales Marine Insurance companies held their half-yearly meetings the same day. The report of the first-named institution was not favourable, and no dividend was declared. The New South Wales Marine declared a dividend at the rate of 20 per cent. and added £3000 to the reserve fund. £4 5s c. div. was given the early part of the week for shares in this company; I notice a sale at £4 10s. The half-yearly meeting of the Waratah Coal Company was held on the 26th instant. The report was very favourable, a dividend declared at the rate of 8 per cent. £1861 7s 4d written off for depreciation; £94 added to Insurance fund, and £2704 15s 6d carried over to profit and loss. Peak Down Copper shares have been placed at £1 per share. Debentures are dull of sale; a few interminables have changed hands at 92.—October 27th.

PRODUCE, STOCK, AND STATION CIRCULARS.

MORT AND CO.—Wool: This market remains as reported by us last week. Well-conditioned washed fleece wools command attention and bring fair prices, but buyers will hardly look at ill-conditioned or seedy parcels. The same may be said of scoured wools. Greasy wool, owing to the larger quantity, is only saleable with a larger margin than we think ought to be allowed at present. At the same time we feel the necessity for realising as speedily as possible, as ere long the stores and scouring establishments will be full, and prices must recede still further. Sheepskins have declined from 1d to 2d per lb. on the prices of last month. We had to pass several lots yesterday. Tallow: This market remains very firm, and at to-day's sales last week's prices were fully maintained. Best beef brought £35 15s to £36 12s 6d., and medium quality £34 5s to £35 10s. Hides continue in good demand, and prices ruled a shade higher. We sold 680 this morning, at from 4s 3d to 7s 9d for dry and inferior, and 11s to 14s 6d for medium to good. One parcel of extra weights brought 17s 3d. For particulars of sales see at foot.—Produce Sale.—Wool: Grease, double triangle, 3 bales at 4d; scoured, DN in diamond, 4 firsts, 1 second, 5 at 17d; fleece, GT, 10 at 19½d; scoured pieces, GC, 1 at 11½d; mixed, TF, 1 at 6d; scoured, Hfeld, 7 firsts, 4 seconds, 11 at 20d; ditto, GTL, 3 firsts, 1 first and second, 1 second, 1 third, 6 at 21d; greasy, WA, 5 at 7½d; clippings, WD, 1 at 3¾d; handwashed, R, 1 at 14½d; mixed, ditto, 1 pocket at 1d; handwashed, W. S. Inglewood, 1 at 9d. Sheepskins: JWB, 1 lot at 6¼d; PxB, 1 lot at 6¼d, 6 bundles at 6½d, 8 bales at 6d; W in square, 7 bundles at 6d; TO, 4 bales at 5½d, 109 skins at 5¾d, 27 at 6d; DM, 1 bundle at 2d, 1 lot at 5d, 1 lot at 7½d. Tallow: B in diamond, 1 cask at £35; G in diamond, 1 at £36; AL, 1 at £36; JWB, 11 at £35 5s; P in circle, 12 at £35 10s; W in square, 6 at £36; GM, 2 casks, 1 at £36 5s, 1 at £36; AN, 1 at £34 10s; JWB, 1 at £35 15s, 5 at £35 5s, 6 at £36 2s 6d. Hides: J, 27 at 4s 3d; S, 21 at 13s; W in square, 90 at 14s 6d; ditto, 49 at 14s; C, 7 at 7s 9d, 44 at 11s, 17 at 5s, 17 at 6s 3d; JWB, 93 at 12s, 81 at 6s, 43 at 11s, 48 at 12s, 38 at 5s 6d, 1 hide at 5s 3d, 30 at 11s, 29 at 17s 3d.—October 26th.

O. B. ENSWORTH.—Wool: At the various sales yesterday the biddings were very slack, and especially so for scoured wools, almost all of which were bought in at higher figures than purchasers would give. Wools, in grease, ruled from 7d to 9¼d per lb.; and for fleece lower prices were accepted than portions of the same clip realised a fortnight since. The result of this shows that owners and growers must accept lower prices, or ship on their own account. Sheepskins are not so much in demand, and lower sales have been submitted to; best skins are selling at 6½d to 7d per lb., above which price none have been sold. Tallow: This market being thinly supplied, and some country orders to be executed, caused prices to still further advance at auction, and beef and mixed melting realised 36s to 36s 9d per cwt.; of mutton tallow there was only one parcel, which was taken by the trade at 38s 9d per cwt. Prices are fully 6d to 9d per cwt. higher than this day last week. Hides: There are few really good offering to test the market, and those sold to-day realised former prices, say—2¾d to 3d per lb. for sound hides.—October 27th.

IRWIN AND TURNER.—Wool: At the sales of this week, 332 bales were submitted, of which about 193 were disposed of. The lots withdrawn are at present held for prices which the trade are not disposed to give. Our sale resulted thus:—Skin, MR, 8 bales at 12¾d; ditto, AZ, 2 at 8¼d; fleece, AF in diamond, 78 at 16¼d; ditto, F&W, 20 at 16d; greasy, L, 1 at 6½d per lb. Sheepskins: Since the arrival of greasy wool in the market, prices have given way fully 1½d per lb. We sold at auction, yesterday, some 2000 as follows:—CXF, 1 bundle at 5½d; F&W, 1 lot at 5d; WHW, 7 bundles at 6¼d; CA, 1 ditto at 5¾d; F, 1 ditto at 6½d; L, 7 bundles at 7d; JM over M in diamond, 4 bales at 7¼d per lb. Tallow: The continued scarcity of this class of produce in the market has caused an advance of about 10s per ton on the rates of last week. Our catalogue for this day comprised 43 casks, which were disposed of subject to the above advance, viz.: FW, 1 cask at 36s; C in diamond, 1 at 36s 6d; L over L, 1 at 36s 3d; F, 7 at 36s 3d; W, 7 at 36s 3d; G&F, 7 at 36s 6d; C, 7 at 36s 9d; B, 2 at 36s 6d; T, 4 at 36s; CM, 2 at 36s 4½d; H, 2 at 36s per cwt. Hides: We have no improvement to report in this class of produce further than there is a good demand for town trade; for export the transactions are unimportant. We offered at auction, 927 hides, of which 879 were placed at current rates, viz., 11 at 11s, 62 at 11s, 188 at 11s 9d, 48 at 9s, 90 at 10s 9d, 177 at 12s 10d, 4 at 4s 2d, 3 at 2s 6d, 117 at 9s 6d each; calfskins, 8 at 1s 6d, 4 at 2s, 50 at 1s 8d each. Leather: There is a fair demand for sole and kip, if of good quality; other kinds are dull of sale. Our sale was attended with the following result: 73 sides kip at 15¼d, 5 rolls brown harness at 9¾d, 25 sides sole at 8¼d, 6 rolls brown harness at 9¼d, 1 roll black ditto at 9d, 2 rolls brown ditto at 8½d per lb.—October 27th.

J. BREWSTER.—Stations: There is no alteration since last report. I would draw the particular attention of capitalists to several choice fattening stations which will be submitted to public competition by me on the 22nd proximo, the runs and stock being very superior. Store Cattle: No inquiry at present, and in the absence of rain we cannot expect any sales being effected; quotations nominal. Store Sheep: Wethers are inquired for, but purchasers look for reduced rates, which sellers are not willing to accede to; young ewes are in demand, but very few in the market of this class. Wool is not coming very quickly to hand, the lots offered being within a penny a pound of their London value; the only lot worth notice offered by me at Thursday's sale was JMP 16 bales, Northern fleece, which brought 17½d; locks and mixed, 10¼d; and greasy, 8¼d per lb.—October 27th.

THOMAS DAWSON.—Fat Cattle: Large supply to hand of inferior quality. Anything really good is so scarce as to be eagerly sought after; while inferior are so plentiful as to be almost a drug. If the drought should continue much longer, cattle must of necessity arrive in still worse condition. Sheep Market: Glutted to any extent. Large numbers of inferior are constantly arriving and make sales difficult to effect. Prime flocks are worth from 13s to 15s. Store sheep and cattle: Nothing doing. Horses are dull of sale unless of good stamp, hay having advanced so much in price prevents purchases unless a ready sale can be had for them.—October 27th.

PITT AND SULLIVAN.—Fat Cattle: A full supply this week; most of those to hand were only second class, and for such quality the demand was anything but brisk. We quote prime cattle, fit for the trade, worth £5. Our sales have been 173 head, Crawley's, at £3 5s; and 40, Gorrick's, at £4. Fat Sheep: The number offered was considerably in excess of requirements; coupled with this the majority was of very middling quality, consequently the demand was anything but brisk, the worst scarcely selling at store prices. Our sales are 1094, Lee's, at 12s. We quote prime heavy wethers, wool on, at 13s; shorn, 9s. Store Stock: We have still numerous inquiries for this class of stock, and could place a few lots at satisfactory prices.—October 27th.

L. M. HARRISON.—Fat Cattle.—Number is not nearly so large as last week, nevertheless quite sufficient to supply the requirements of the trade, as the consumption is much less than when meat was lower. Good bullocks bring £6 to £7; middling, £4 to £5. Fat Sheep.—Market glutted with middling and inferior; in fact, some have been sold during the week at a price less than is asked for store wethers delivered on the station. Prime sheep, however, are scarce, and are worth 13s; middling, 8s to 9s. Store Cattle.—There are buyers in the market for this kind of stock, but they will only buy subject to the cattle being allowed to remain on the station until sufficient rain has fallen to permit them to travel. Vendors will not consent to this, knowing well that if they can only keep their stock this long, they may expect a higher price than can now be obtained. Quotations: Bullocks, 40s to 50s; mixed, 30s to 40s. Store Sheep.—No actual business doing, there are a few inquiries, though not much disposition to purchase just at present.—October 27th.

BURT AND CO.—Live Stock.—Fat Cattle: A large number of middling cattle offering this week, but prices do not advance, the best rates being from £4 to £6 1s for bullocks, and £4 5s to £6 14s for cows. A lot of 150 head averaged £4 17s, and 100 head, very middling, £3 4s 6d. Sheep.—The market is over stocked, and as there is no chance of keeping them beyond a few days in consequence of the dry weather, prices have fallen very much, and sales this week have been reported from 6s and upwards, according to quality; the moment the present glut is cleared, both cattle and sheep will advance in price. The imported bull, Royal Arch, we have sold for £140.—October 27th.

F. P. HORSE MARKET.

BURT AND CO.—Much the same; demands have been active this week for shipment to Queensland, and we have cleared off a good many lots; prices ranging from £5 to £30 for hackneys, and £10 to £30 for harness horses.—September 27th.

MR. CHARLES MARTYN reports: The arrivals of fresh stock have been rather considerable, and a very large portion found purchasers. The unsold lots consisted principally of mares and aged horses, which, as other descriptions become more plentiful will be very unsaleable. The prices do not vary very materially from those obtained during the past few weeks. At Camperdown the following drafts were sold:—15 head, belonging to Messrs. W. and J. Inglis, at from £3 to £16; average about £7 5s per head. 20 head belonging to Mr. John Perry, at from £1 to £5; and 34 head, belonging to Mr. James Warn, at from £2 to £18; averaging £7.—October 26th.

MAITLAND MARKETS.

FRIDAY, October 27.—Business: The wholesale houses report that business has been tolerably good during the week; the retail trade is quit. The markets are without change.

Teas: Congous, best brands, £9 to £9 10s per chest; hysonskin £5 to £7 10s per chest.

Sugars.—Company's No. 1, £45 to £46 per ton; crystals, £52 per ton; light Mauritius, £36 to £38 per ton; ration, £32 to £34 per ton.

Oilmen's Stores are firm. Bottled fruits, 14s to 15s per dozen; pickles, best brands, scarce, 9s to 9s 6d per dozen; sardines, scarce, ¼ lb. tins 8s per dozen, ½ lb. tins 11s 6d per dozen; English jams, 13s 6d to 14s 6d per dozen. English cheese, very scarce.

Salt of all kinds firm. Liverpool, £5 to £5 10s per ton; fine, £6 per ton; rock salt, scarce, at £6 10s to £7 per ton.

Brandy.—Martell's 21s 6d to 23s per gallon; pale brandy, 30s to 40s per dozen, best brands 45s to 60s per dozen. Gin (key brand) 41s to 44s per case. Whisky, 33s to 35s per dozen. West Indian rum, 30 o.p., 16s to 17s per gallon.

English ale, firmer; Bass's No. 3, £8 5s per hogshead; Marrian's, £8 to £8 10s. per hogshead; bottled ale and porter, 11s 6d to 12s per dozen.

Rice, £24 to £25 per ton.

Tobacco.—Virginia leaf very scarce. Colonial, manufactured from the pure Virginian leaf, 4s 6d per lb.; colonial, 1s 4d to 1s 6d per lb.; leaf, 4d to 5d per lb. American negrohead looking up, 7s to 8s per lb.; cigars, 100s to 120s per 1000.

Carriage.—Carriers are complaining of the scarcity of feed and water on the road; many of them are obliged to carry horse feed with them.

Flour and Wheat.—There has been no small amount of excitement in the flour market this week, and the wholesale prices have advanced to almost full retail rates. Colonial manufactured and Adelaide sorts have been purchased at £24 to £24 10s per ton, for bakers' fine, and Chilian at £22 15s to £23 per ton; the retail rates remain unchanged at 25s for fine, and 23s for seconds, per 100 lbs. Stocks are light and hardly equal to the consumption till harvest. The settlers have commenced reaping at a few farms, but it is thought that there will be very little wheat brought into town before Christmas. The new wheat appears to be good, and affected but slightly by rust.

Maize.—The demand for maize is far in excess of the supply, and as there are numerous purchasers prices are steadily improving, as high as 3s 8d per bushel having been given this week. Stocks have been greatly reduced by the exports, and as the settlers who now hold are mostly in good circumstances, they are unwilling to sell at the present time, believing that the market will continue to improve, seeing that the consumption is heavy, and that a long time must elapse before stocks can be recruited.

Bran and Pollard are in good demand at £7 per ton wholesale, 8s per 100 lbs. retail.

Hay.—£3 to £3 10s per ton.

Green Food.—Lucerne, 5s per cart load.

Bread.—5½d per 2 lb. loaf wholesale, 6d retail.

Poultry.—Wild ducks, 1s to 2s per pair; fowls, 1s 9d to 2s per pair wholesale, 2s 6d retail; ducks 2s 9d to 3s per pair wholesale, 3s 6d retail; geese 5s to 6s per pair wholesale, 7s to 8s retail; cock turkeys 7s to 8s per pair wholesale, 10s retail; hen turkeys, 4s per pair wholesale, 5s retail.

Farm and Dairy Produce.—Butter 10d to 1s per lb. wholesale, 1s to 1s 3d retail; eggs 6d per dozen wholesale, 8d retail; bacon in great demand, partly in consequence of the high price of meat, at 7d to 7½d per lb. wholesale, 10d retail; lard 6d per lb. wholesale, 8d retail; cheese 3d to 5d per lb. wholesale, 6d to 8d retail—scarce.

Vegetables of all kinds are scarce. Potatoes 9s to 10s per. cwt. wholesale, 1½d per lb. retail; carrots 2s to 3s per dozen bunches wholesale, 4d per bunch retail; onions 24s to 30s per cwt. wholesale, 4d to 5d per lb. retail; green onions 2s per dozen bunches wholesale, 2d to 3d per bunch retail; turnips 2s per dozen bunches wholesale, 3d per bunch retail; pumpkins 2s to 4s per dozen wholesale, 4d to 6d per lb.; green peas 2s per bushel wholesale, 9d to 1s per peck retail.

Fruit.—Apples 7s to 13s per case wholesale, ½d to 2d each; bananas 1s 2d per dozen wholesale, 1½d to 2d each; oranges, 6d to 8d per dozen wholesale, 1d each; strawberries, 4d to 6d per dozen retail; loquats 4d per quart wholesale, 6d retail.

Butchers' Meat.—Beef 20s to 25s per cwt. wholesale, 4d to 5d per lb. retail; salt beef 25s per cwt.; mutton 3½d to 4d per lb. wholesale, 6d per lb. retail; pork and veal 6d per lb. retail.

Hides, 7s to 12s each.

DENILIQUIN STOCK REPORT.

Friday Evening, October 20th.

The uncertain weather which has ruled for the last three months still continues, accompanied by strong storms of hot and cold wind and dust, with alternate days of sunshine. Since our last we have had dark massive clouds floating over the southern part of Riverina, but scarcely any rain has fallen. The consequence is that the stock, store and fat, look very poor compared with those of the last few seasons. It is now too late to expect heavy continuous rains, and if we had them they would be no further service than that of feeding the store stock and keeping them alive. Stock matters, therefore, in these parts have at present rather a gloomy appearance. The consequence of the want of rain will be chiefly seen in the sending of large quantities of half fat stock to market from overstocked stations, as well as of disposing at a sacrifice of store stock that cannot be kept owing to the want of water. We see the effects in the Melbourne markets of the scarcity of fat stock in Southern Riverina, in the fat cattle brought by sea to Melbourne from the northern parts of New South Wales. It is probable that the scarcity of water in Riverina will have a more disastrous effect on cattle than on sheep, although the returns that constantly reach us of losses in the latter class of animals in back country are something very serious, but as sheep are much more tractable than cattle, so the difficulties of water supply may be got over by continuous well-sinking. Sheep are the safest stock in Riverina, as they consume and thrive upon the brackish water brought to the surface from the wells, which cattle will not look at. Accounts from the Maneroo district, whence we have been accustomed to look to a great extent for store stock, are discouraging. It is reported, on good authority, that the cattle there have, during the last season, diminished in quantity one-half from two causes—pleuro-pneumonia and the sale of large quantities of store for stocking Gippsland. Numbers of cattle are dying daily at Maneroo from starvation. Notwithstanding the ceaseless energy of the squatters in continually extending their operations over and reclaiming back country, such are the continued drawbacks in losses of cattle and sheep from disease and starvation, and the absorption of the young female stock by frontier settlers, that we are led to believe that fat and store stock will remain in demand for the next year or two. If importations by sea to Melbourne continue regularly, the Riverine settlers will have to insist upon the Government setting aside specially ample reserves along the highways to Victoria for travelling stock; and these reserves should be protected by practical legislation, which should be put in force in the most stringent manner. As matters are at present fat cattle and sheep get vastly depreciated in value from being starved on the road to market. Feed along some of the highways is not to be had. On the lower Murrumbidgee, for instance, the roadside is reported to be as "bare as a board." Mr. M'Kinnon's sheep had to return from the Meroo Creek to the Billabong, there being no feed for them. Mr. Hallon crossed 186 fat cattle at Gillenbah. They are reported as unexceptionably fine. 450 head of Keighran's fat cattle crossed there the same day; we think this lot since crossed at Deniliquin. 5000 head of fat cattle have been disposed of in Queensland for the New Zealand market; price given, about 80s per head. The cattle will be conveyed regularly by steamers. Fat cattle in Queensland are reported to be in good demand. At Maitland fat cattle were ranging from £6 to £7 each; mixed store, 30s. From the Lower Murray, we hear of 13,000 wethers owned by Mr. H. Glass, from New England, small framed but fine woolled, having been eight months on the road, in charge of Mr. Ellworthy; they still look uncommonly well. 2000 fat sheep, Staughton's, passed Euston on the 14th for Melbourne; 11,000 store wethers, H. Glass's, passed there on the 16th; also, 1800, Walker's, on the 17th. A mob of store cattle, Ricketson's, passed Wentworth on the 14th. On the 17th, 53 horses crossed at Mulwala, reported prime and fit for the Indian market. A mob of Dean and Laughton's fat cattle was near Wentworth, from Queensland, about twelve days ago.

The crossings at Deniliquin during the week have not been many, viz.:—1500 fat wethers, W. Campbell; 290 fat cattle, Keighran, on Saturday; and about an equal quantity on Tuesday. Mr. William M'Kenzie sold 90 head of fat cattle, and 14 cows, Mr. Brennan's, to Mr. A. Bell; and Mr. Graves, for Ryan and Hammond, reports the sale of 400 store bullocks to Mr. Johnston, of Victoria, at £4 4s each, to be delivered within 30 miles of Melbourne.

Weather still unsettled; alternately wind and sunshine, with cold winds at nights. River Edward lowering.—Pastoral Times.

CITY RATE.

To the Editor of the Herald.

SIR,—Will you allow me to ask whether the City Treasurer has the power to refuse the City Rates when presented?

My reason for asking the question is this. The rate paper had been left at my house and overlooked until a couple of days ago I got notice that a distress warrant would be issued; and this morning, at 10.30 a.m., I called to pay the rate, when it was refused both by the man at the counter and by Mr. Lord. About 2 p.m. the bailiff made his appearance at my house, when I had to pay 8s. charges, which I did under protest, as I tendered the money three hours and a-half before the bailiff arrived.

This is a most annoying matter, and I can see no reason for it except it is to put money into the pockets of the bailiffs at the expense of the citizens. I have offered and would willingly pay a reasonable percentage if a collector would call for the rate. I see no reason why the person who leaves the rate paper should not collect it.

I enclose my card,

A. M.

26th October.

[The case seems a hard one, but a distress warrant having been issued, the Civic authorities were legally justified in refusing payment of the rate at the office.—ED. S. M. H.]

To the Editor of the Herald.

SIR,—I am at once the most important and dirtiest street in Sydney. To remedy this defect somewhat, and in compliance with a petition from the residents, a sum of money was voted two or three weeks ago for the supply of hydrants, but beyond this no sign has been made. Scarcely a day passes without wind, hot or strong, from some quarter, accompanied with clouds of dust, blinding and bewildering without, and causing dirt and annoyance within doors.

With your leave I would, through your columns, suggest that, under these circumstances, the Corporation's benign attention to this afflicted district would prove an acceptable boon to

Yours, obliged,
NEW PITT-STREET.

PATERFAMILIAS ON THE PRICE OF MEAT.

(From Punch.)

My wife and children, we must eat;
We can't reduce our diet.
But oh! the awful price of meat!
Who can afford to buy it?
Alas, the good old days gone by!
I say, to their decrier,
Our venison then, indeed, was high,
But now our beef is higher.

You won't consent to try "charqui,"
Or any preparation,
Imported from beyond the sea,
Of flesh in preservation.
Have butchers' meat alone you will,
Heavy as be may weigh it,
The bill and nothing but the bill
For you—and I must pay it!

The bill, and nothing but the bill,
My children, and their mother!
Ah! yes—if that your wants will fill;
The butcher's and no other,
Except the grocer's bill of course,
The milkman's and the baker's;
But spare me, with a moral force,
The draper's and dressmaker's.

Away, at least, indulgence cast
Of Vanity's poor passion,
And try to make your raiment last,
Without regard to fashion.
Bestow less care on the outside,
Spend much less money on it,
And don't expect me to provide
Each quarter that new bonnet.

See me! Five years and more have flown
Since last this form was measured;
Yet still these garments hold their own,
Through storm and sunshine treasured.
A mortal man must daily dine,
Stale clothes may still grow staler,
The butcher gains—the loss is thine,
My tailor, O my tailor!

Then be, my love and dears, content
With finery in reason,
Or we must keep a constant Lent,
And fast in every season;
In something we must pinch and pare
To make both ends just button.
The tarlatanes and glaces spare,
For love of beef and mutton.

THE SHOOTING OF THOMAS DUNN, AT ECHUCA.—Our correspondent writes:—Crime, in its most hideous phases, is giving sad notoriety to the vicinity of the Border towns at this point of the Murray. One of those peripatetic outcasts of society who, unhappily, are almost the inevitable offspring of our social state, has been shot to death by the outraged husband of the female upon whom the wretch had attempted to commit a crime scarcely less heinous than the taking of life itself. Whilst the few reflecting minds must condemn such a usurpation of the functions of justice, the majority approve, in the most unqualified terms, the act of the slayer; and even those who would desire to find the legal remedy always resorted to, confess that under the circumstances the hand, and indeed the conscience, of the husband should be freed from the stain of blood, shed in the protection of the wife of his bosom, the mother of his children. At the coroner's inquest, which was held the other day, the husband, Michael O'Brien, deposed: I am a farmer, residing on the Campaspe, about four miles and three quarters from Echuca. I am a married man, and have one child. After dinner yesterday I went for the mare across the Campaspe, and while going I saw the man now lying dead coming in the direction of my house. Having crossed the river, I thought I heard a scream, and recrossed and made for my house, when I saw the man holding my wife by the neck. She was on the ground. I was a hundred yards away. He was not on the ground, but like on his knees. He saw me when I was twenty or thirty yards from him, and then ran away. I asked my wife what was the matter; and she replied that the man had been murdering her, and that she was almost dead. I pursued him, and borrowed a gun from Muller. I should think that it was half or three-quarters of a mile from my place to the place where I overtook him, and called to him to surrender. He refused to do so, and put his right hand in his breast, as though to draw out a pistol, and called out to me to stand clear of the horse, that he had as good a way to defend himself as I had. I thought to have the advantage, and fired at a distance of sixty-four yards. I have since measured the distance. After I fired he did not turn round, but walked backwards with his face to me for about twenty yards. He said he would surrender, and I went for the horse, from which I had dismounted, and which had gone about thirty or forty yards away from the noise of the shot. When I got her I saw that he had fallen. I did not believe that he was dead, and so did not approach him very closely. I was under the impression that he had a revolver about him, as he never took his hand out of his breast all the time. When I saw the man with my wife at my house I thought he had murdered her, and that if I had been two minutes later he would have done what he liked with her. I reported the matter to the police, and brought them to the spot. The jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. O'Brien was then arrested by the police, but was liberated on bail. Deceased has been identified as Thomas Dunn, who arrived in Melbourne from Launceston by the Black Swan, a little better than two months ago. He had since travelled up to Deniliquin, and been employed for a fortnight on Messrs. Landale's station, and having returned to Echuca had since then been engaged at Mr. Glass' station as a shearer. The evidence showed that deceased had been guilty of other assaults on women.—Deniliquin Chronicle, October 21.

THE CROPS IN THE BRAIDWOOD DISTRICT.—The continued absence of the long-prayed for blessing of rain has within the past few days completely disheartened the farmers, and taken away the last vestige of hope remaining as to the safety of their crops. The oats are now thoroughly lost, and the wheat is rapidly displaying more conspicuously its sered and yellow tinge, and giving up the ghost like all the other fruits of the soil, so different from the appearance under which we have been in the habit of viewing them at this season of the year, decking and beautifying the fields, the gardens, and the meadows, and cheering the heart of man and beast, and all things living, but which are now all rapidly succumbing to the same inexorable fate of premature decay and ruin. The picture is truly a dismal one. A great number of our farmers have, during the week, turned their cattle into their fields to eat down the grain, preferring by this means to save their beasts, and trust to the truant rains that may set in hereafter for a second crop.—Dispatch of Wednesday.

THE SEASON AND THE CROPS.—The terribly dry weather experienced here has effectually prevented first-rate crops being raised, still there are many farms where the barley and oats show a fair average. On Mr. Gannon's bit of free selection, on the Murray road, the oats are looking nicely, and with the assistance of a day's rain would be a capital crop. Bad as the season has been, however, farmers will have no cause for complaint, for what they lose in quantity they will more than balance by lucerne.—Pastoral Times.

A GOOD BEAST FOR THE SEASON.—During the crossing of Keighran's mob of fat cattle on Tuesday, a cow fell lame, and being killed was found to weigh 8¼ cwt. The cattle had been brought from the Macquarie, and the condition indicates not only the character of the mob from which it was an unpicked beast, but also reflects great credit on those who had managed to get them from such a distance in the present season with so much flesh.—Deniliquin Chronicle, October 21.

STARVING SHEEP.—Mr. J. S. Pearson, of Canally, was summoned to appear before the Balranald Court on the 21st instant, to answer a charge of cruelty to animals, inasmuch as he caused to be put in a yard 150 sheep, the property of Mr. M'Callum, and kept them in the yard from the 26th to the 30th September, without either food or water, thereby causing the death of ten sheep. The charge having been made out to the satisfaction of the Bench, the defendant was fined £5. The fine was paid under protest.—Pastoral Times.

MANSION AND GROUNDS, Nelson Bay, near Waverley.—For SALE, by PRIVATE CONTRACT, in consequence of the proprietor's projected visit to Europe, that beautifully situated first-class commodious Family Mansion, "PALMERSTON," Waverley, overlooking Bondi Bay and the ocean, together with the extensive highly ornamental grounds, containing an area of 15 acres 2 roods 34 perches.
Palmerston is substantially built of stone from a design by Mr. E. T. Blacket, the well-known architect, who also superintended its erection. It contains large, lofty, well-proportioned drawing and dining rooms, library, seven bedrooms, bath-room (with hot and cold water), kitchen, laundry, butler's pantry, and every desirable family convenience. At the rear is an enclosed paved yard, and detached (screened by luxuriant shrubbery from the house) is a well-appointed stable, coach-house, hayloft, groom's room, stable, yard, &c. The whole of these premises are well drained; and, on an elevated part of the grounds, considerably above the house, is a large stone reservoir, into which flows a pure, and never-failing stream of good water, which is conveyed to the house by iron pipes, copiously supplying the bedrooms, bathroom, kitchen, laundry, &c.
Nothing can exceed the extreme beauty of the grounds, which at great expense have been artistically laid out with skilful judgment and tasteful pleasing effect. An extensive lawn of soft velvet turf, with handsome fountain and miniature lake in the centre fronts the house. The surrounding domain comprises sunny glades, opening into shrubberies of choice trees of varied hues and foliage, and a delightful valley bounded by rising undulating ground studded with clumps of evergreens and flowering shrubs, and through which a pretty brook winds its tortuous way. This rivulet takes its rise from the high land, and is a very pleasing feature in the landscape. It falls into the valley by a series of romantic waterfalls, near each of which crossing the stream are picturesque wooden bridges. The banks are turfed with a rich grass sward, and here and there are tastefully disposed grottoes and rockeries covered with ferns and water plants of every description. On one portion of the grounds are a fine orangery, a banana plantation, an orchard, and kitchen garden.
For further particulars and inspection of plan, apply to RICHARDSON and WRENCH, Pitt-street.

A consignment of PURE NEGRETTI RAMS and EWES, selected with great care by a competent judge from the most famous flocks in Germany (and imported at great cost and risk), expressly to meet the requirements of colonial flockowners.

This shipment has arrived in excellent condition, and consist of 50 RAMS and 24 EWES. They are, without exception, the best ever imported into the Australian colonies. The fineness and closeness of their wool cannot be surpassed. Flock-owners who are desirous of improving their sheep and bringing the staple to perfection, are earnestly recommended not to overlook this opportunity of securing some of these really valuable animals, as the prices hitherto ruling here give no inducement for sheep-breeders in Germany to venture further shipments.

The sheep may be inspected at Messrs. Burt and Co.'s Yards. Catalogues and particulars obtained at their Office; or at the Office of Messrs. MEYERFELD and CO., 62, New Pitt-street.

WITHIN TWENTY-FIVE MILES OF ROCKHAMPTON.

DAIRY PLAINS STATION.

To Butchers, Dairymen, and others.

W. REA and CO. have received instructions from the proprietor, T. W. Vicary, Esq., to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Denham-street, on TUESDAY, 7th November, 1865,
That admirable depot for fat wethers or fat cattle called adjoining the celebrated Canoona Run, and being only twenty-miles from Rockhampton; comprising a large area of very fine country, the carrying capacity of which is estimated at about 5000 head of cattle in all seasons.
DAIRY PLAINS,

The rich fattening plains that are found on this run give it a special and peculiar value, from their proximity and handiness to meet the butcher's demands for town trade, when fat stock is required on occasions of emergency.

This run is beautifully and conveniently watered, having a large sheet of water three miles long on one part of it, besides numerous creeks and waterholes.

There are some splendid points of view on the run, from among which could be chosen an excellent site for a country house, and so close to Rockhampton that a residence there might be justly termed a suburban one, and yet so removed from public traffic as not in any way to interfere with the stock on the run.

This run would suit admirably to be purchased with the very compact station adjoining it called Woodlands (which is to be sold without stock on the same day). The latter having already on it all the necessary improvements for working a cattle station, thus rendering any further outlay unnecessary.

This arrangement would give the buyer's stock a splendid range of country, extending from the junction of the Alligator Creek, with the Fitzroy River on the one side, to the sea coast on the other, with every shipping convenience that can be required when water carriage becomes valuable. The certainty of which appears now to be pretty near, when either of the new methods of curing meat comes into practical operation.

This Run will be sold with as small a number of cattle as the purchaser may require, the vendor having other runs where the cattle can be removed to.

The country herein described has, like the Canoona Run, the great advantages of being under the tenure of the Orders in Council; and, it is believed, that both these Runs carry with them the valuable acquisition of the preemptive right, similar to the runs on the Darling Downs.

For terms and particulars, apply to
W. REA and CO.

ROCKHAMPTON.

Canoona Head Station.

On the River Fitzroy, and within five miles of the reopened Canoona Diggings.

This being one of the earliest taken up runs in the district, although so near to Rockhampton, is held under the Orders in Council, and has, therefore, a much better tenure than many of the other runs in the Port Curtis District.

W. REA and CO. have been favoured with instructions from the proprietor, T. W. Vicary, Esq., to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Denham-street, on TUESDAY, the 7th day of November next, at 12 o'clock,
That celebrated station called the Canoona Head Station, situated in the Port Curtis District, comprising a very large area of country, of the best description for cattle, beautifully watered, and having an estimated carrying capacity of about four thousand head of cattle, in any and every season.

The name of this station has become so famous that it is probably the only part of Queensland known to thousands of people at a distance, in connection with the gold-fields existing on this run.

With this station will be sold any amount of stock that may be required to suit the convenience of the purchaser—the proprietor having other runs where the stock could be removed to—should the purchaser wish to put his own stock on the run.

The very extensive and substantial nature of the improvements on this homestead run give it the character of a complete family residence in all its supplementary conveniences, which have year by year been added to the property at a very large outlay. They consist of a neat cottage with shingled roof and boarded floor, containing seven rooms—with a verandah back and front; a kitchen with iron roof, containing three apartments, with good yard having a six feet fence in the rear; a store with shingled roof and boarded floor—containing five good rooms with verandah in front. This building, though used as a store and as spare bedrooms—is in reality a good house. A woolshed a little out of repairs, a good carpenter's shop, a wash-house (bark roof), a lumber house, a three-stall stable, a coach-house and fowl-house, two men's huts. The stockyards are large and have all the customary subdivisions, drafting yards, &c.; a milking yard and calf pen; one large paddock, about 200 acres; another about 100 acres; another about twenty acres—each of these paddocks has a permanent water boundary that never fails, and has every convenience required—such as catching yards, gates, &c.

It is perhaps not saying too much to predict that it will probably be impossible to duplicate the opportunity for years to come—that now presents itself of buying so complete a station; the occupancy of which combines the united advantages of both a town and a country life, as this station, though under the old and advantageous tenure of the Orders in Council, is yet at but little greater distance from the centre of Rockhampton than a customary drive to a country house from a place of business—thus giving to a purchaser all the many beneficial results arising from a residence sufficiently near to town to enable him to have his family within easy reach of an afternoon's visit; so that the working of the station might be very well carried on by part of a family, while other members of it attended to a business in Rockhampton, should such an arrangement be thought advantageous.

The owners of cattle runs now appear to be quite justified in the expectation of a much more brilliant future for their interests than those that have existed for many years past—as even the most cautious and unenthusiastic men up here are coming under the conviction that we are on the brink of some really practical discovery, for giving to our beef and mutton so extended a market as will enable us to leave the boiling-down days and the boiling-down prices far behind. In proof of this we give the following extract from a letter received by us from a member of the Legislature at Brisbane a few days since:—"I tasted a piece of beef-steak a few days since, that was cut from a bullock killed last May in Melbourne; it was preserved in a tin; the tin had been opened in Sydney about a FORTNIGHT SINCE, and yesterday such as remains of it was to all appearances as fresh as the day it was killed. The process of preservation—I fancy is by injecting some gas into the tin, and then hermetically fastening it up; but the steak bore no traces by sight or taste of any curative plan."

We may also mention that the method of curing beef, known as Professor Morgan's plan, is now undergoing the test of a practical trial by Messrs. Archer and Co., of Gracemere, and so far, these gentlemen appear to attach more hope to it as a commercial success than to any of the previous methods suggested, for extending the market for our grass-fed stock.

In this aspect of our future market, the possessor of so fine a cattle station as this is, at the very door step of a shipping port, may well consider himself in a fortunate position, and had the present proprietor not so many properties to attend to, this valuable station would certainly not be brought into the market at the present time.

The terms of payment, and all further particulars, may be obtained at the Rooms of the Auctioneers.

LEICHHARDT DISTRICT,
PEAK DOWNS.

That very fine Pastoral Property,
THE KYNEBIL STATION,
Which abuts upon those celebrated Peak Down Stations of Messrs. Lamb and Black, and Gordon Sandeman, Esq., M.L.A.,
Together with 8654 SHEEP (more or less).

W. REA and CO. have been favoured with instructions from the proprietor, T. W. Vicary, Esq., to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Denham-street, on TUESDAY, 7th November next, at 12 o'clock,
That very valuable station known as KYNEBIL,
which joins on those fine pastoral properties so well known as the Peak Down Stations of Yamala and Gordon Downs, and situate only 85 miles from the market for fat stock at the Clermont Gold-fields and Copper mines.

With the station will be sold the following sheep, the correct ages of which will be given in a future advertisement:—
3917 ewes, of which two thousand and odd will lamb in October
1828 yearlings, mixed sexes
1388 weaners, from an autumn lambing, mixed sexes,

7133
1521 wethers, mixed ages.

8654

 The great advantage of purchasing with so small a proportion of wethers as there is in this lot will be easily understood by those who know the benefit arising from quick increase on a station during the first years of purchase.

The IMPROVEMENTS on the head station are a neat three-roomed cottage, verandah back and front, kitchen, store, and men's hut; a large wool shed, an excellent wool press, yards, and a paddock, enclosed with new and substantial two-rail fence.

The OUT-STATIONS have all necessary huts and yards for pastoral purposes. The purchaser of the station will be required to take horses, bullocks, stores, and working gear connected therewith at a valuation.

The above valuable property embraces something like an area of 100 square miles, a considerable portion of which is beautiful undulating downs, and silver-leafed iron-bark and blood-wood ridges, well grassed, together with an abundance of herbage and salt bush, and a permanent supply of water.

The station has been formed for some years, and offers to an incoming purchaser the great inducement of having all the essential outlay already made necessary to bring the station into working order; the meaning of which only those can fully comprehend who have taken in hand the formation of new country, and have brought it into the class of a thoroughly settled station.

This station has the not inconsiderable advantage of being situate in a district where the immediate residents are of a class that will compare not unfavourably with most of those in the settled districts in the older colonies, so that a purchaser bringing his family from the South need not in any way count on the drawbacks arising out of a removal from a locality where civilisation has taken root, to an outpost where a residence means expatriation.

To those gentlemen in the Southern colonies who know what the profitable results have been to those who hold stations in the vicinity of a gold-fields market, it will not require much explanation to show that the station now offered for sale, in possessing that advantage in reference to the main gold-field of Queensland, has an increased money value of many shillings per head on the stock to be sold with it, even if that stock amounted to half or three-fourths the full carrying capacity of the run, instead of the small proportion now sold with it.

The gold-field herein alluded to, although comparatively inactive at present, still retains the confidence of all practical miners, who admit that what has hitherto been done there has not been mining, but the mere scratching of the surface; and yet these scratchings have shown such results as to satisfy those men who have tried the diggings, that the present want of water is the sole impediment in preventing the favourable predictions of the Rev. W. B. Clarke from being realised and confirmed—that prediction being to the effect that the region of the country radiating from this locality might be counted on as the future seat of the largest gold-field yet discovered in the Australian colonies.

Terms of payment, and all further particulars may be obtained on application at the Rooms of the auctioneers.

HICHENS GEDYE will sell by auction, on THIS DAY, the 28th instant, at 12 o'clock, on the premises known as the Apollo Inn and Harmonic Hall, Pitt-street, either in one lot or separately,
The lease, license, fixtures, and fittings, comprising beer-engine, spirit fountains, bar, counter, shelving, tables, forms, good cellar pump, wine and spirit measures, floorcloth, &c.

Terms, cash on the fall of the hammer.

LEICHHARDT DISTRICT.

Within One Hundred and Twenty Miles of the Shipping Port of PORT MACKAY,
and adjoining the celebrated Stations known as LEICHHARDT DOWNS and GROSVENOR DOWNS, and within an easy distance of the Peak Downs Market.

WILLIAM REA and CO. have been favoured with instructions from Messrs. Morse Brothers, of New England, to offer by public auction, at their Rooms, Denham-street, Rockhampton, on TUESDAY, the 7th November next,
That very excellent station known as having a frontage to both sides of the Upper Isaacs River of about ten miles, taking in the watershed of North Creek, besides other tributaries of the Isaacs. The run adjoins the well-known stations of Grosvenor Downs, the property of Messrs. Fous and Co., the Leichhardt Downs Station, the property of Messrs. M'Henry and Co., and Oxford Downs, the property of Messrs. Lawson and Chuval.
INGSDEN,

This station comprises the following blocks of country, subject to the customary Government regulations of survey before lease is granted. No conflicting boundary question with any neighbour exists with regard to this station property.

The blocks are:—

Winchester Downs......	25
Exeter Downs..........	25
Ingsden	25
Headington	25
Bullington	25
Islington	25
Waterperry	25
Oxford	25
Monrovia	25

285 square miles.

More than half of this very extensive run is fine open country of downs character, remarkably well grassed, and of sound character. The timbered country is open forest, with box and bloodwood on it. There are some patches of scrub—with saltbush in abundance. The station has been formed for some years, and is now in good working order, having the necessary improvements for carrying it on.

These improvements consist of overseer's residence, a woolshed 60 by 28 feet, to hold 70 or 80 bales wool, and an 8-feet skillion; a good shearing floor, grating pens, sheep yards, &c.; four out-stations, with yards and huts, large store; 1 horse paddock, about 80 acres.

With the run will be sold about 9000 EXCELLENT SHEEP, of good ages, particulars of which will be given in a future advertisement. This year's lambs given in. Stores, working stock, &c., at a valuation.

This station has been hitherto under the disadvantage of having been worked most imperfectly, the gentleman to whom the owners instructed the taking up of these stations (some four years since) having gone to England, thus throwing the onus and necessity on the proprietors of visiting these runs at such hurried and uncertain intervals as they could snatch from the time necessary to attend to their more important interests in New England. As one of the present partners purposes visiting Europe shortly, it has been determined to bring these stations to a peremptory sale on such favourable terms to the purchaser as will insure the disposal of them being finally closed before his departure; though we have it on the authority of this gentleman that, did he consult his own and his partner's future profit, in preference to comfort and convenience, he believes that selling their Southern stations instead of these Northern ones, would, in a few years, show a much more advantageous result at their banking account.

The terms of payment have been made unusually liberal, namely, one-third cash, residue by bills at one, two, or three years, with interest added, at eight per cent., secured on stock and station.

For further particulars, apply at the Rooms of the Auctioneer.

Peremptory Sale.

By Order of the Administrator of the Intestate Estate of the late William Brock, Esq., of Suttor Creek.

WILLIAM REA and CO. have received instructions from the Administrator in the above Estate to sell without any reserve, by public auction, at their Rooms, Denham-street, Rockhampton, on TUESDAY, 14th November next, at 12 o'clock,
That fine little sheep run known as GREENLAND,
adjoining, and having formerly been part of, that splendid station known as SUTTOR CREEK,
and also bounded by the equally fine run known as EAGLEFIELD.

Greenland Run is particularly and specially suited for any one wishing to begin sheep farming on a small scale, as the run will be sold with the insignificant number of
650 SHEEP, more or less
(say six hundred and fifty).

This will at once show that the present is a bona fide sale, and that sheep have not been put on to sell with the station.

This run is situate about
130 MILES FROM PORT MACKAY, and also within a convenient distance of the town of BOWEN.

It consists principally of good open forest country, with small plains, and in some parts a considerable amount of scrub. There is a good supply of water, and the run has plenty of fall to carry off rain.

For further particulars apply at the Rooms of the Auctioneers.

PEREMPTORY SALE.
By order of the Mortgagees.

WILLPEND.
LEICHHARDT DISTRICT.

Preliminary Notice.

Near the Peak Downs Gold-fields and the Copper Mines, and within a distance of about 140 miles of Rockhampton.

W. REA and CO. have received prompt and peremptory instructions from the Mortgagees to sell, at their Rooms, Denham-street, Rockhampton, on TUESDAY, the 14th day of November next, by public auction, to the highest bidder,
That well-known station, known as WILLPEND,
together with about
10,000 SHEEP (more or less).
Particulars of which will be given in a future advertisement.

This run is situated on the Mackenzie River, and is within a distance of about 140 miles from Rockhampton.

It includes the blocks of country known as
BALPANNAH
BRINGOMERY
BELLYRINE
BARWEN PARK
LAMPLOUGH
DUNRED, and
BALLING CLEROCHE.

And comprises an unusually large extent of available pastoral country, indeed, sufficient in area to have justified the proprietors in making out of it, but owing to the precise instructions received, requiring that this sale should be made without any reservation whatever, they are precluded from altering the present construction of the run.
TWO LARGE STATIONS

This station comprises a considerable variety of fine open forest country, lightly timbered, as well as some of open Downs character, it is very well watered, and has stood the test of both wet and dry seasons in a very satisfactory manner, as may be seen by the condition of the sheep, and the character of the lambing.

All further particulars may be obtained on application at the Rooms of the Auctioneers.

TUESDAY, October 31, and WEDNESDAY, November 1.
At 11 o'clock each day.

On the Premises of Messrs. Fulton and Co., Flinders-street.

FREE CHURCH OF ENGLAND.—The Churchwardens and Committee of the Free Church of England (established July 19th, 1864) beg respectfully to inform the public that the Rev. W. FRANCIS XAVIER BAILEY, LL.D., is in no way connected with the above Church. P. P. AGNEW, Minister.

October 26th, 1865.

REV. P. P. AGNEW.—An advertisement having appeared in the HERALD, 26th October, signed as above, informing the public that I am unconnected with the Free Church of England established July 19th, 1864—or, in other words, with Mr. Agnew's Free Church in Bourke-street—I hereby notify that Mr. Agnew's information is perfectly correct. I have from the first protested again and again against the motive which Mr. Agnew himself publicly avowed as the sole origin of his secession—namely, a failure of income when under the sacred compact of obedience to his lawful superior. Further, I protested against his denial of the necessity of episcopal ordination, both in his speeches and trust deed—that being, as I hold, the only apostolic guarantee of a lawful ministry. And I protest against the merchandise of compulsory oppressive fees and pew rents enforced, in the name of religion, in his or any other church calling itself FREE. Such a freedom I hold to be a species of deluding misnomer calculated to deceive and ensnare. All our courts of ecclesiastical law would at once adjudge any body designating itself, like Mr. Agnew's, as a "Church of England," to be a mere deluding deception, which, unlawfully denied the divine and exclusive right of our episcopacy, in its most peculiar functions—that being the only lawful basis of Church authority, and the only lawful means of the Church's permanent perpetuity. I have devoted my humble labours, without income, to the spiritual welfare of a section of that Apostolic Church, and at a very considerable private expense, voluntarily free from all Episcopal control, though holding the Divine office of all Bishops in highest reverence, and this without the infliction of any extortionate fees or pew rents, or having recourse to any of those frequent dramatic shifts and sensational exhibitions now so often plied to swell Church funds. Surely, then, neither Mr. Agnew, nor his self-appointed churchwardens and committee, in their monied strength, need dread, at my humble hands, any injury at all to their speculation—nor, least of all, any fear of the olden alarm being realised of their "CRAFT BEING IN DANGER."

W. F. X. BAILEY, LL.D.,
Minister of the Free Church of England, in Brisbane-street, South Head Road.

The Hotel is situated in the best part of Wollongong, and is replete with every thing that the most fastidious could desire, containing 30 rooms on the ground-floor, bar, 3 parlours, dining-room, billiard-room, table, cues, &c., complete, pantry and store-rooms, and very superior kitchen, with 2 excellent stoves. On the second-floor two handsomely furnished sitting-rooms, 20 bedrooms, large ball-room, capable of accommodating several hundred persons. Water-closet and three bath-rooms. Below capital yard, stables, out-houses, small garden, with good paddocks,—in fact nothing has been spared by the proprietor to make the Queen's Hotel certainly the most comfortable and fashionable hotel in Australia. Mr. Layard would observe that none but principals need apply, and it would be a loss of time for any person to take an hotel like the above that does not fully understand the business. Wollongong is not only known as the garden of the colony, for its healthiness and beautiful scenery, but also for the respectability and wealthiness of its neighbourhood, and this, together with the patronage of the elite of Sydney who are too anxious to avoid certain unpleasantness in watering places immediately near Sydney; no doubt can be entertained that the patronage would ensure a competency in a short time to the tenant, particularly if saddle horses and vehicles were kept at the hotel always ready, at a small expense, for visitors to view the neighbouring scenery,—bearing in mind that civility, cleanliness, and a right attention to moderate charges, ought to be the motto of every landlord of an hotel. All particulars at Mr. Albemarle Layard's, Jamison-street.

N.B.—This advertisement will appear every week until the house is disposed of.
